Shelby County Fairgrounds / The Associated Press

This undated photo shows the Shelby County Fairgrounds grandstands, which were burned in an arson fire in May. Instead of canceling key horse races only weeks away and the popular fair, organizers decided to scramble and erect temporary bleachers, and the county fair is taking place this week as scheduled.

SHELBYVILLE — Ron DeBaun was smoking his pipe in his garage "just a tick before one o'clock" on the morning of May 19 when he heard an explosion.

The 65-year-old director of harness racing at the Shelby County Fairgrounds had checked on the barns and booths only a half-hour before to make sure there was no wrongdoing.

But from his house, he watched as the fairgrounds' 133-year-old grandstand, a state landmark, was engulfed in "a ball of fire."

The grandstand had burned to the ground by the time other fair board members arrived.

Instead of canceling key horse races only weeks away and the popular fair, organizers decided to scramble and erect temporary bleachers. After a frantic month and a half — and with the help of a community focused on carrying on with its fair, despite the fire — the Shelby County Fair is taking place this week as scheduled.

"Now, you have to understand," DeBaun said. "This is Shelbyville. We do the impossible here."

Fair organizers were already looking for replacement bleachers, before excavators cleaned up the grandstand and spoke with bleacher companies the day after the fire.

Authorities later found signs of arson, said David Rush, the fair's president. However, there have been no arrests in the fire.

Workers from the bleacher company erected temporary bleachers by June 15, which will be removed in mid-August.

Meanwhile, many of the sponsors have stuck with the fair and even increased their sponsorships. Rush said board members are still pricing permanent alternatives but added that bleachers he's seen to replace the 1,500-seat grandstand start at $8,000.

"To be honest, I have no idea (how to fund a replacement)," he said. "It's going to be pretty rough. We've got 40 acres to keep up all year around."

For now, the memory of the old grandstand lives on through plaques with nails from the structure and commemorative drawings donated by community members, both of which are being sold at the fair this week to help raise funds for the replacement. Rush said several county residents have donated money directly to the effort, and the fair is holding a raffle.

Shelby County grandstand director Mike Hirschauer said, however, that replacing such a storied structure is no easy task. The grandstand opened in 1879, which he said made it the oldest all-wooden grandstand in Indiana and one of the oldest in the country. DeBaun said Civil War veterans provided the labor to build it.

The incident also exposed safety hazards existing at the fairgrounds.

Firefighters had to run hoses up to 800 feet to reach the burning grandstand because fire hydrants had never been installed on the fairgrounds. DeBaun said that the fair was turned down for grants for fire hydrants for years leading up to the fire. Now, however, he said several groups have come forward to help get fire hydrants on the grounds.

"It's awful that you have to have a catastrophe like this before people start talking," he said.

The explosion DeBaun heard was caused by the fire's destruction of electrical equipment, which helped power the entire fairgrounds. Not including purchasing new permanent bleachers, costs so far are more than $20,000, Rush said, no small amount for a fairgrounds maintained without tax dollars.

Much of the fairgrounds' revenue comes from boarding and training horses and hosting races throughout the year. Given the tight scheduling of horse-racing circuits, missing races for a summer jeopardizes a venue's chances of hosting more in the future.

Hirschauer, 68, started at the fairgrounds as a security guard when he was 21. He eventually bought stock in the fair, and after 25 years as the grandstand director, he refers to it as his "little baby."

"It was heartbreaking seeing everything going up in flames, but what can you do?" he said. "When it's gone, it's gone."

PECULIAR AILMENT WAS FATAL

3-7-04

Mrs. Joseph Swinford, residing two miles east of Anderson, died of a peculiar ailment which has been a puzzle to the doctors, several of whom were called in consultation on the case. The general belief of the doctors is that possibly a tumor of the brain caused heart trouble, which was the immediate cause of death. For want of a better name to express the ailment, the physicians call it "rapid heart." For the past two weeks, Mrs. Swinford's heart has beat at the rate of 240 a minute without relief. This is as rapid as a person can ordinarily count. During all that time, there was not the least indication of fever, and Mrs. Swinford was perfectly rational to within an hour of her death. Recently, Mr. Swinford bought the Harmeson farm south of Anderson and was preparing to move to it. He had all his household goods packed up ready for transportation when Mrs. Swinford was taken ill.

MANGLED BODY FOUND BY TRACKS

Charles Dyer Killed by a Fast Train on the Pan Handle.

3-12-04

Charles Dyer, aged thirty-five years, was found dead along the Panhandle tracks, south of the city yesterday, by two men on their way to work. His body was lying on a pile of ties and was covered with snow. The Panhandle officials were notified and Sells ambulance removed the remains to the morgue. Coroner Trueblood in making his examination, found that both shoulders were broken, both legs broken, one hip dislocated, and all the ribs on the right side crushed in. It was the coroner's opinion that he met instant death.

Dyer lived with his wife and two children, a half mile south of the plant of the Indiana Brick Company, where he had been employed, until fire recently destroyed the plant. He came to this city Thursday afternoon and it is believed started to walk home along the tracks at a late hour. The fast train due here at about midnight, probably struck him, for he had been dead many hours when found.

That he was thrown with great force against the pile of ties, is told by the fact that a piece of bone was found imbeded in one of the timbers.

The remains were removed from the morgue to his home yesterday afternoon, and the funeral will take place at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. Burial will be in the Anderson cemetery.

REGISTRANTS BRAVE STORM

Sun. Jan. 13, 1918

CHALLENGE WORST BLIZZARD OF YEAR TO ANSWER TO QUESTIONNAIRES.

CLASSIFICATIONS ON SATURDAY

The impression that Uncle Sam makes on the average citizen was emphasized yesterday by the number of young men who faced the most severe storm in years to return questionnaires to Madison County Conscription Board No. 1 within the allotted time. It was the general opinion of those about the office that a man who is game enough to get out in yesterday's storm to serve a request of his country has the qualities that would whip the Kaiser single-handed. The classification so far follows:

Judith 'Judy' A. Swinford

April 16, 1944 - July 3, 2014

MUNCIE — Judith "Judy" A. Swinford, 70, Muncie, passed away peacefully July 3, 2014, at her home surrounded by her family, after a courageous five-year battle with cancer. Ovarian cancer may have taken her physical body, but Jesus took her heart.

She was born April 16, 1944, to the late John and Irene (Duncan) Parker in Bainbridge, Ga., but spent many wonderful summers in Alabama.

She is survived by her husband of 30 years, Floyd Swinford; daughters Jerrie Bellish (Tim) of Indianapolis, Julie Coffey (Michael) of northern Kentucky and Amy Swinford of Anderson; grandchildren Holly, Chelsea, Daniel, Emily, Joseph, Olivia and Sarah; brother Rick Parker (Diana) of Midland City, Ala.; and special friends Diana Gaultney, David and Lori Hobbs, and Linda and Tim Lee. She also is survived by Marlie and Harris, who adopted "Miss Judy" into their lives. Judy will also be missed by her devoted canine companions, Duffy and Hank.

Judy worked as a waitress for most of her life at Bob Evans and Cracker Barrel in Anderson and Muncie, retiring in 1996. She will be remembered for her strong work ethic and kind spirit.

She enjoyed spending time working in her landscaping, planting and tending her flowers, as well as tending to her goldfish pond and numerous bird feeders. She loved the outdoors and nature. She and Floyd also enjoyed traveling in their camper to explore new destinations.

Her home was always open to her family and friends. Judy was genuinely concerned for the comfort and well-being of others and would always be quick to offer a helping hand.

She was a devoted and active member of Glad Tidings Church in Muncie. Her church family and friends were very important to her and Floyd, as they provided much support to her throughout her journey.

Judy and her family would like to thank everyone for their gifts of prayers, food and flowers during this very difficult time. The family would also like to thank Chris Arvin of St. Vincent-St. John's Hospice.

Visitation will be from 10 a.m. to noon at Glad Tidings Church, 3001 S. Burlington Drive, Muncie, followed by a service at noon officiated by Pastor Kevin Holt.

Memorial contributions may be made in Judy's memory to the Ovarian Cancer Research Fund, 14 Penn Plaza, Suite 1710, New York, NY 10122.

Arrangements are under the care of Legacy Cremation & Funeral Services, Anderson. Post online condolences at www.legacycremationfuneral.com and www.theheraldbulletin.com.

Because of the age of the mechanisms, which are used for secondary treatment of wastewater, the parts are no longer available.

"The parts have to be fabricated when they're needed," Manor said. "It becomes very expensive and takes a lot of time to get something fabricated; so we end up with the equipment out of service for long periods of time."

Manor said the department has eight clarifiers, used every day when operating. She said the clarifiers settle sludge in the wastewater before it goes to final treatment and disposal in the White River.

She said it will take as much as a year to replace the clarifiers. The work requires draining the tanks

Mary ‘Margie’ (Matthews) Weston

Sept. 13, 1915 - Aug. 31, 2014

ALEXANDRIA — Mary “Margie” (Matthews) Weston, 98, passed peacefully on Sunday, Aug. 31, 2014, at Bethany Pointe Health Campus in Anderson following a brief illness.

Margie was born Sept. 13, 1915, in Anderson, the first child of Fred Matthews and Myrtle (Vanderhoof) Matthews. She often expressed what a wonderful childhood she had, being blessed with loving parents. She lived in Anderson until moving to rural Alexandria in 1959.

Margie spent nearly all of her life as a homemaker and mother, but loved “doing” for others. During World War II she worked with the USO Surgical Dressing Group and the Red Cross Blood Bank. After moving to Alexandria, she often volunteered time at various nursing homes or civic activities, and served as a “Fire Bell” at Richland Township Volunteer Fire Department. She has been a longtime member of the Vermillion Friends Church. She loved to fish and enjoyed spending time on lakes Tippecanoe, Cumberland and Little Barbee.

To her family, Margie will be remembered as a lady who tried to do everything right in her life. She was always cheerful and content with what she had, and opened her home to family and friends needing a warm meal or soft bed. Her Spanish Cream Pie will be sorely missed. We will remember her toy box stocked with a great assortment of old toys — nothing with batteries. Many a visiting child or grandchild first learned to shoot marbles from her, or play spoon and water in the house after church. She had a passion for mowing around every fence post on the farm and painting anything that didn’t move. By the way she lived her life, she taught us all how to be caring and loving parents, and good, honest human beings.

Survived by two daughters, Sue Wagner of Alexandria and Brenda Swinford (Tony) of Alexandria; seven grandchildren, Mary Baker-Evans of Alexandria, Elizabeth Wagner of Elwood, Nancy Reed of Mooresville, Amy Swinford of Anderson, Todd Swinford of Indianapolis, Patrick (Jeannette) Swinford, and Nicole (Clint) Bledsoe; great-grandchildren, Erika, Kris, Kim, Makala, Gracy, Tanner, Cannon and Ohara. Also surviving are many nieces and nephews and a special “adopted” daughter and friend, Linda Rosencrans.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Fred and Myrtle Matthews; husband, Lucien Weston; three siblings, Fred Matthews, Betty Eads and Frank Matthews; son-in-law, Earl Wagner; and special friend Wilbur Brown.

Visitation will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday with funeral services following at Legacy Cremation & Funeral Services, 504 W. Ninth St., Anderson. Interment will be at Jones Cemetery, Yorktown.

Memorial contributions may be made to Heartland Hospice or the charity of choice.

Family wishes to express special thanks to Heartland Hospice (Kathy, Kyra, Taylor, Sal & Earlene) as well as the nursing staff at Bethany Pointe. You all made a difficult time a little easier central Indiana, said Wendy Mehringer, the center's vice president of blood services.

"We don't have revenue except for what we charge the hospitals, that service fee, for the blood that we provide," Mehringer told WISH-TV.

The demand for blood dropped by 8.2 percent from 2008 to 2011 and continues to drop, according to a report by the AABB, formerly known as the American Association of Blood Banks. Contributing to the decline are fewer elective surgeries being performed and medical advances that curb bleeding in the operating room.

Studies published over the past 15 years also show that too much transfused blood can be harmful, said Susann Nienhaus, director of client services and patient safety at Indianapolis-based Strategic Healthcare Group LLC, a blood management consulting firm for hospitals.

"I foresee continuing reductions in blood transfusions across the U.S. in the coming years," Nienhaus said. "I see that we're just now beginning to get traction on that."

Indy - Anderson Dam NOT Needed

Here are a few irregularities I found in the Mounds Lake Reservoir $400M proposal.

Indianapolis never wanted the Anderson dam. Idea was created by a private marketing group, Corporation for Economic Development, Anderson, IN.

A 2014 business report from a Indianapolis utility disclosed that Indy reviewed their options and made this conclusion. “Adequate Local Resources: 30-40 yrs” No plans to buy the Anderson water.

This Indy report gave details on how they reached their conclusions. Here is a comparison to the Anderson proposal on two items, source alternatives and cost to customer.

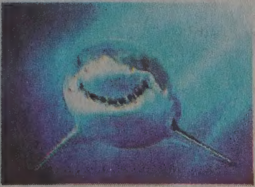
Anderson report skipped 18 less expensive of 20 alternatives for future water needs. Anderson promoter only considered a dam and the next most expensive water alternative, pipe lines for the Indianapolis area.

The 18 less expensive alternatives can apply to other communities in the region. So, why would others need to buy from Anderson???

Anderson report skipped cost to customer. Indy made a cost analysis and it shows a regional source (Anderson dam) would be 5 times more expensive for the customer.

And I noticed a few major costs items missing in the Anderson proposal that can drive the $ 400M much higher.

A request for oversight was REJECTED by the Madison County Council. Oversight would have disclosed this project is NOT cost effective and was first rejected in 2011, 3 years ago. A full disclosure has not been made.



About 12 organizations have additional reasons for being opposed to the dam. And I was told, as a local taxpayer, I am to be “ignored”.

Air control, White House security breaches unsettling

As many who were traveling by airline recently can tell you, the act of a disillusioned individual can create havoc for hundreds of thousands of Americans.

On Sept. 26, disgruntled employee Brian Howard set a fire at the Chicago air-traffic control facility and then tried to kill himself. While Howard, who had ranted on social media about "lazy and useless government workers" and the government's "immoral and unethical acts" was unsuccessful in his suicide attempt, he succeeded in disrupting hundreds of flights out of O'Hare and Midway airports over the next several days. O'Hare is the second-busiest U.S. air hub.

Flights were rerouted, delayed and canceled, putting a major kink in business dealings across the country, causing consternation for travelers and their families, and adding another dimension to concerns over air travel safety and dependability.

While the Chicago air travel debacle unfolded, the nation was still squirming over security breaches at the White House, where on Sept. 19 a man named Omar Gonzalez scaled the fence on Pennsylvania Avenue and got deep into the executive mansion before being stopped by security. Gonzalez, who was carrying a knife, was a U.S. military veteran of Iraq and suffered post-traumatic stress disorder.

In the aftermath of the Gonzalez scare, several other breaches of U.S. government security came to light, including an armed private security guard being allowed to travel in an elevator with President Obama, who was never informed of the incident.

The Chicago air-traffic control facility fire and security shortfalls at the White House might not seem, at first blush, to have much in common. But episodes as disparate as these all contribute to the sinking feeling that Americans — from the president down to the common man and woman on the street — are not safe.

If a lunatic air-traffic control employee in Chicago and a troubled military veteran operating alone and without complex plans can

Michael A. 'Tony' Swinford

January 25, 1940 – November 27, 2015

ALEXANDRIA — Tony Swinford passed Friday morning, Nov. 27, 2015, after being rushed to Community Hospital in Anderson. His health had been declining recently due to advanced Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD).

Tony was born in Anderson to DeRoyce and Wilma Swinford on Jan. 25, 1940.

Survivors include his wife, Brenda; children, Michael Todd Swinford of Indianapolis, Patrick (Jeannette) Swinford, Nicole (Clint) Bledsoe, and Amy Swinford, all of Anderson; a sister, DeAnn (Bill) Meredith of Gulfport, Fla.; four grandchildren, Tanner, Cannon, Gracy and Ohara; and sister-in-law, Sue Wagner. He also leaves numerous nieces, nephews and cousins. He is also survived by a special longtime best friend, Jerry Wooldridge. Also left to miss his frequent table treats and warm bed are Maggie and Lennie, his canine companions.

Tony was preceded in death by his parents, De and Wilma; mother-in-law, Margie Weston; uncle, Barney; aunts, Nell Swinford and Virginia Scott; and brother-in-law and fishing buddy, Earl Wagner.

Tony was a 1958 graduate of Anderson High School, as well as a Ball State graduate (at age 50) with a degree in Political Science. He was a man of many talents. He served in the U.S. Navy, worked as a millwright and packaging engineer at Delco Remy, owned an independent consultant company working in the U.S. and abroad, was an aspiring candidate for state representative, worked briefly as a real estate agent and most recently co-owned and worked as a lawn care and landscape professional with his wife.

Tony spent many happy times on Lake Cumberland houseboating.

He was always looking for a bigger boat, loved fishing in the Gulf of Mexico and was an avid advocate of warm weather. He was obsessed with politics and loved a good political "discussion."

For his family and those close to him, he will be remembered as an optimistic, "nothing is impossible" kind of guy. Never "gushy," we knew that he still had a deep love and concern for those close to him. He was honest, polite, had strong convictions, and lived by them. He was always unafraid to voice his opinion and retained that strength until the day he died. But most of all, he was a "rock" for his family — a person who was always there with support or the right answers, even if you didn't agree with them. He will be missed tremendously.

Tony's wishes were to have a celebration in lieu of a funeral. There will be additional notification as to time and place in the near future. Arrangements are under the care of Legacy Cremation & Funeral Services of Anderson.

Broderick signs off on incentives for two economic development projects

By Ken de la Bastide
The Herald Bulletin

ANDERSON — The Anderson Economic Development Department operating under outgoing Mayor Kevin Smith has been given the green light to offer incentives for two projects by Mayor-elect Thomas Broderick Jr.

As the Democratic Party candidate in the November general election, Broderick defeated incumbent Republican Smith with seven potential economic development projects in the pipeline.

Broderick said last week that all of the economic development opportunities that existed prior to the election remain on track. He recently signed off on a possible incentive package for one of the pending projects.

Tony Swinford

The decline of American industry and the family farm is the reason Alexandria resident Tony Swinford is seeking election to the Indiana House.

Swinford

Swinford is seeking one of two Republican nominations in District 31, which includes the northern part of Madison County.

The district is currently represented by Democrats Tracy Boatwright and Pete Beck.

In making his announcement, Swinford said government efforts should provide more attractive conditions for American-owned firms to keep production in this country.

He is a lifelong resident of Madison County and has been employed as a millwright at Delco Remy for 28 years.

Swinford, a graduate of Anderson High School, will receive a bachelor of arts degree from Ball State University this spring.

Ten vie for three seats on ACS board

By BARRETT NEWKIRK
barrett.newkirk@heraldbulletin.com

Editor's note: The Herald Bulletin is profiling school board races around the county on Sundays.

ANDERSON — An appointed newcomer to the Anderson Community Schools board of trustees must outshine four opponents if he wants to remain in his seat.

Wally Fitch, a retired teacher who last year replaced board member Doug Vermillion in the South Position 1 seat, said the school district's new dress code may have created more interest in this year's election.

"Some people thought now might be a good time to jump in the race, because there might be a lot of dissatisfaction out there," he said. "I just happen to have four of them living in my district."

Thomas Morgan is one of Fitch's opponents. The owner of a property management company said rising property tax payments and stagnant school performance may have also encouraged people to run for school board.

"You have a lot of homeowners in the south district, and the results that we're getting don't match the payments that we're making," he said. "I want to make sure that things are held accountable, so that we can improve test scores and the quality of education for the children."

Voting for seats in all Madison County school boards takes place on May 6 during the primary election.

Tim Long, who shares his name with the former school superintendent, said he'd like to see more diversity on the school board. As a board member, he said he would put more focus on helping the district's highly mobile students and encourage the community to be more involved with education.

On March 1, Lamberson was released about five hours after he was arrested on suspicion of invasion of privacy, violating a restraining order taken out by his wife 26-year-old Kristina Lamberson. On March 2, Kristina was found dead.

Lynne Barclay said decided to run against Fitch because, as an in-home daycare operator, she understands the importance of education.

"I want to be a strong advocate for the education of all children," the mother of three said.

Also campaigning for Fitch's seat is Tom Sullivan, who said his main concern is how Anderson schools will deal with looming funding cuts.

"We need to get the legislature involved to make sure that enough money is given to the school system," he said.

East position No. 2

Tony Swinford, a Delco Remy retiree and owner of a manufacturing consulting firm, said spending time in classrooms during the past three years motivated him to run for the board of Anderson Community Schools.

"I've done some substitute teaching and have taught in the Anderson school system, and I think we need some help there," he said.

Poor student performance is a strike against the city when outside businesses look at relocating to Anderson, Swinford said, and while Keith Millikan and other school board members have improved school facilities and secured decent salaries for teachers, they have not been able to improve school performance.

Millikan agreed that more family involvement is the best weapon to improve schools.

"Our teachers are working their fannies off," he said. "We need the help of parents."

Nearly 60 percent of Anderson students receive free or reduced-rate lunches, and Millikan said poorer districts will typically have lower performance figures.

"We're a poor, an extremely poor district," he said.

Millikan said he would also like to expand the district's preschool programs.

Millikan taught in Anderson schools for 34 years. He has served on the school board for 16 years and is a former board president.

Central Position No. 1

Irma Hampton Stewart, who served on the school board for 12 years, is attempting to regain the seat she lost to Teddy Pancol Bohnenkamp is 2004.

"I'm concerned about the extremely low graduation rates and the inability of the school board to account for the inequality of education for our children," Stewart said.

She and Bohnenkamp are running against Scott Bell, the parent who sued the school corporation last year over its dress code.

Bell has said he was concerned that the school board operates without regard for students' best interests and that the money he would earn as a board member could help him repay the district's legal fees for the suit he and his wife filed.

Bohnenkamp said she hopes to continue the progress made during her current school board term. "We've made significant gains," she said. "There are always further opportunities."

Indiana lawsuit claims 8,000 homes "at times unlivable."

daughter because she "can't take it anymore."

The suit also names Co-Alliance LLP, which owns the farm's hogs, and three individuals who own and operate the farm.

All 50 states have enacted right-to-farm laws, according to the National Agricultural Law Center. Indiana has two, one of which was passed in 2014 and protects Indiana farmers' rights to use "generally accepted" production practices, including "the use of ever-changing technology."

The suit alleges the 2014 law gives farms legal immunity and favors their production practices "regardless of the harm those practices cause." The plaintiffs also argue the state's laws amount to "an unconstitutional taking of their property rights."

Looking for information in Shelby and Madison counties (Indiana) on my g-grandparents Susan (McCarty) Swinford (1836-1912) and husband Joshua Swinford (1839-1924). I believe both died while living in Madison County, but I have been unable to locate their burial place near any of the other Swinfords in Huntsville Cemetery or any of the cemeteries in Madison County. I did locate the burial site of Joshua's mother Deborah (Leach) Swinford in Shelby County, but I'm still looking for her husband John Milton Swinford's grave.

Hi Karen. I am part of the Shelbyville/Anderson/Pendleton Swinford clan as well. I am looking for the burial location of John Milton Swinford (1799-1886), my ggg-grandfather, who I believe to be buried in Madison County. The last time I was visiting the Anderson Library I found reference to his son Joshua, my gg-grandfather (1839-1924) being buried in Grove Lawn Cemetery in Pendleton, but I haven't had a chance to look for the cemetery yet (difficult since I live in Texas and get back maybe once a year). My g-grandfather (Mathew, 1875-1916), grandfather (Kenneth, 1899-1977), and dad (Kenneth Elbert, 1920-1987), are all buried in Huntsville. What is your link to our branch of the Swinfords?

Hi Karen. I have an Everett P. Swinford and his son Everett L. Swinford, and not much more on this branch of the family. (I had an "orphan" family tree for them, with no connection to the other Swinfords.) Your grandfather is Everett L.?
I know the Huntsville Cemetery pretty well, and have Xerox pages of the cemetery index I found in the Anderson Library. I also found in the library references in the 1924 Anderson Herald that my gg-grandfather Joshua Swinford was buried in Grove Lawn Cemetery in Pendleton, but I found a web site this week on a Madison County Cemetery project, and the listing for Grove Lawn doesn't show him.

Any assistance is appreciated.

BY COUNCIL

PREPARING TO SELL CITY PROPERTY WHEN HALTED BY THE CITY ATTORNEY

MUST PETITION COURT

Prevention of Error May Result in Better Price for Machinery to be Sold Soon

That the city council is not all powerful in city affairs was evidenced yesterday when it attempted to dispose of some of the city's property and was blocked by the law. The council has been planning for some weeks to dispose of some machinery owned by the city and at a special meeting yesterday afternoon attempted to put through the proposed plans. One councilman made a motion, to the effect that the city clerk be instructed to advertise for bids on the machinery in question, and the council was about to vote on the resolution when City Attorney Sansberry interceded.

Council Learns Something.

The city attorney quietly informed them that it was not within a council jurisdiction to sell any city property, valued at more than $100. The machinery that is to be sold is worth in the neighborhood of $3,000.

That the councilmen were chagrined was plainly evident by the expressions on their faces but they quickly revived and in accordance with the instructions of the city attorney changed the resolution or order to a petition.

May Mean More Money

The petition will go to the Circuit court and Judge Bagot will do all the deciding about the sale of the machinery. If the court believes it is advisable to sell the machinery the court will appoint appraisers and have it appraised. It is this appraising part of the work that is worrying the council. Some of the councilmen fear that the appraisers will put a price on the machinery so high that it could not be sold if it had been used by Frederick the Great.

The machinery involved consists of a 200 horse power Corliss engine, a 200 kilowatt generator and a battery of three boilers. The Corliss engine and dynamo belong to the electric light plant while the battery of boilers is the property of the water works. All of the machinery is in good condition but not capable of meeting with the present demands. The engine and dynamo at one time constituted the engine generating capacity of the electric light plant and will within the next few months be supplanted by a new 2000 K. W. steam turbine generator. The boilers were once used for furnishing steam for the pumps at the water works but now the pumps are supplied with steam from the battery of boilers at the electric light plant. The boil-

CORONER ALBRIGHT MAKES FINDING IN ELEVATOR MISHAP

Heard Stories of Linder and Hinderer Funeral of Swinford Ocurs Today.

An "unavoidable acident" was the finding made yesterday by Coroner Albright in the case of Floyd Swinford, elevator operator, who met with a tragic death in an elevator accident at the Union building Thursday morning. Coroner Albright completed his investigation yesterday afternoon when he received statements from Ernest Linder, the young man who witnessed Swinford's horrible death and John G. Hinderer, the only other eye witness of the tragic accident.

Linder's statements yesterday corroborated the general statement made Thursday evening by Coroner Albright following a gathering of general facts. The offiical statement yesterday differs only in the manner in which Linder says the car was started. According to Linder's own statements, he entered the car and seated himself on the operator's stool and casually laid his hand on the handle of the controller where hung Swinford's gloves. A moment later the car started up, how, he does not know.

The funeral of Mr. Swinford will occur at 2 P. M. today from the Arrow Avenue Christian church with burial in the Maplewood cemetery. The Kamala tribe of Red Men will have

Pickets Attack Soldiers and are Clubbed Into Insensibility—Open Saloons Add to Trouble

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 19—Four additional companies of militia from the eighth regiment were ordered here today for strike duty, following the discovery that the anarchistic element among the striking mill workers and their sympathizers, have brought great quantities of dynamite into the city, with the intention of blowing up all mill property involved in the walkout.

Mayor Scanlon received a threat of assassination at his home late this afternoon, and summoned a police guard to escort him to city hall. He will have a body guard until the strike is settled.

The militia and police are conducting a wide and thorough search for the dynamite, but for far their efforts have been futile.

Soldiers Club Pickets

Three strike pickets tried to rush a militia guard at the head of Mill street today, and were clubbed until they toppled into the street. Later in the day Etter E. Gianni, a member of the strikers executive committee, was arrested at the corner of Cross and Auburn street, after he had threatened to kill a score of women bound for the mill district, unless they quit work. He was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for rioting and carrying a pistol.

Three hundred Belgian weavers left the United States Worsted company's mill today, and more employes are expected to walk out tomorrow.

Leader Flays Militia

Strike leader Joseph Ettor, asked today about the dynamite reports, would only say, "If dynamite goes off it will be heard all over the city."

Addressing the strikers he said: "And so you have it, the soldiers are here anxious to wet their bayonets in your blood."

The saloons which had been closed for three days, have been open all day and tonight are jammed with strikers, who are developing an ugly mood.

badly mashed and a few ribs were broken.

The body was quickly removed from the lobby to Sells Bros. morgue and prepared for burial.

At 4 p. m., the body was taken to the family residence, at 2239 Park Avenue, where it was received by the grief stricken wife and infant daughter; the dead young man's mother, Mrs. Wade Manis and sister, Miss Hester Manis.

Funeral at Church

The funeral will occur at 2 p. m., Saturday, from the Arrow avenue Christian church with burial in the Maplewood cemetery. Rev. William Lundy, former pastor of the church, will have charge of the services. Mr. Swinford was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Swinford, residing west of this city, where he formerly made his home.

Lindner Greatly Distressed

With the exception of the immediate relatives, probably the most distressed person, as a result of the accident, is Ernest Lindner, a young man employed in the stock department of the local branch of the Central Union Telephone Co. Although the young man emphatically denies that he started the elevator intentionally and that he was only "kidding" Swinford, yet it is the general opinion that Lindner did start the car and lost all control of his senses when he saw that Swinford would be caught between the shaft and the first floor of the building.

It was about 7:15 yesterday morning, when Lindner entered the lobby of the Union building to ride the elevator to the fifth floor, where the offices of the Central Union Telephone Company are located. Swinford was sitting on the lobby stairway steps when Lindner entered and they immediately proceeded to joke each other. At least a minute or more was consumed in this manner. Lindner finally remarked that he was in a hurry to go above. Swinford, however remained seated on the steps while Lindner entered the elevator car. He was in the elevator but a few moments until the elevator car began to move upwards and Swinford sprang from the stairway toward the car. The floor of the car was at Swinford's waist when he made the leap that he thought would be sufficient to carry him into the car. Before his body had cleared the rapidly diminishing opening, his left foot was caught by the top of the frame of the elevator door and also the iron grating which guards the elevator shaft.

Victim's Cry For Relief

Instead of mashing off his foot, the iron door drew Swinford's body farther out of the elevator car until nothing but his head and shoulders were exposed. Swinford started to shout something to Lindner about this time, possibly to stop the car, but the increasing pain hushed him. Lindner, however, grabbed the controlling lever and stopped the car before it had reached the first landing. In doing so he pulled the lever over too far and in his excitement started the car down again, later up again and the third time Swinford's neck struck the ceiling on the second floor. The body a moment later dropped to the floor of the lobby while Lindner in his excitement, run the elevator car up to the third or fourth floor, he does not know which, where he abandoned it. His actions immediately following the tragic accident were more those of a maniac than a sane young man.

Police Question Lindner

Lindner was brought to police headquarters after the accident, where he awaited the arrival of Coroner Albright. The coroner attempted to get a statement from the young man at the police headquarters but the young man's condition was such that his replies were of little value. Coroner Albright ordered his release and he was allowed to return to his home, on South Jackson street.

Watch Stops at 7:17

Among Swinford's belongings, Coroner Albright found a watch which Swinford was carrying when he met his death. The watch was badly bent and broken and had stopped at 7:17

Fear That Amputation May Be Necessary in Newman's Case.

The condition of Clarence Newman, the young man who was injured in the Big Four railroad yards three weeks ago today is not much improved. Newman had his leg broken in several places and the fractures are not healing in a very satisfactory manner. It may be necessary to amputate the limb. His physician, Dr. McDaniels, may wire the bones together in hope of saving the leg.

Miss Pearl Stoner who was injured in the Big Four wreck near Carey, Ohio, last Sunday, has been removed to St. John's hospital from the Grand Hotel. The attending physician thinks she will recover in a few weeks.

ELEVATOR OPERATOR LOSES LIFE IN THE UNION BUILDING YESTERDAY MORNING

PROBABLY DUE TO PRANK

Joking When Accident Happened—Leaves Wife and Child—Church Funeral Tomorrow.

Repetition of occasional pranks between young men operating and patronizing the elevators resulted yesterday in the tragic death of Floyd Swinford, age 19 years, employed as an elevator operator at the Union building. Swinford was running to catch his elevator, which had been started by a passenger when he fell in the doorway of the car and was crushed to death between the elevator car and the shaft.

After life was extinct Swinford's body dropped to the lobby of the building. A hurried examination of the body by physicians showed that death resulted from internal injuries and possibly a broken neck. The left leg between the knee and ankle was badly mashed and a few ribs were broken.

The body was quickly removed from the lobby to Sells Bros. morgue and prepared for burial.

a. m., in all probability the time that he was first crushed between the elevator car and the steel grating.

It was at first concluded that the marble covering on the first floor was broken when Swinford's body came in contact with the floor, this is not generally believed however, for the reason that it is more plausible that the grating was pushed out when Swinford's body was being crushed between it and the elevator car, and that the strain on the upper holding bolts cracked the marble and caused a piece to become dislodged.

One Witness to Accident

There was one witness to the accident, John G. Hendered, 2129 West Fifth street, but he is also unable to furnish Coroner Albright with a story of the accident. According to Mr. Hinderer, he was standing in the lobby waiting for a car and was looking out into the street, when he heard the elevator car start upward and turned in time to see Swinford hanging half way out of the elevator car. Realizing the possibly result he did not look in that direction further but wheeled about and left the building never returning until others had arrived. Hinderer did not hear any conversation between Lindner and Swinford.

What Employers Say

The Union block officials gave out a statement yesterday afternoon to the effect that the elevator operators are given strict orders to remain in their car at all times while on duty and attribute the tragic accident to Swinford's breach of orders.

It was not long ago that a young man in running to catch a car that had started, slipped and fell in the doorway but was dragged into the car by other passengers before the outer doorway had been passed.

For Precinct Meetings and Also Conventions—Campaign to Set in Late Next Week

Republicans of Anderson township have been called to meet at the Circuit court room one week from this afternoon to elect ten delegates to the Eighth District convention for election of district chairman on January 31 at Muncie.

Committeemen of various precincts in Anderson township began yesterday to issue calls for precinct meetings to be held on the evening on January 26 for election of precinct committeemen or members of the county committees which will be re-organized on January 29. Several of the calls appear elsewhere in The Herald.

Opponent to Beebe

W. A. Foust, trustee, of Pipe Creek township, at the man whom the "young democrats" of this city have picked to beat George T. Beebe for the nomination for county treasurer in coming campaign, was in this city on business of a political nature. He remained about the city offices a greater part of the afternoon conferring with the ring leaders of the "young" Democratic faction.

. . . has proved to be a very efficient secretary. Through all the trials of basketball ticket distribution she remained cool and collected; preserving her warm smile for all with whom she came in contact.

Raymond Dixon

. . . is one of the few men who knows his job inside-out. He is always willing to cooperate in any problem and knows just what to do. We wish to extend our congratulations and appreciation to one of the best janitors in the state.

Curve in road leads to head-on collision, death

By SHAWN McGRATH
shawn.mcgrath@heraldbulletin.com

One person is dead following a two-vehicle collision south of Elwood Tuesday afternoon.

Madison County Sheriff Ron Richardson said that Larry L. Barkdull, 65, of Pendleton was pronounced dead at the scene.

Richardson said a 1996 Volvo semitrailer driven by James Wheeler of Greenfield was southbound in the 5500 block of Indiana 37, north of Indiana 287, about 2:20 p.m. when a northbound Buick driven by Barkdull crossed the center line.

The 2004 Buick crashed head-on into the semi. Barkdull was the lone person in the car, Richardson said.

Wheeler, the semi's only passenger, was uninjured, but the crash heavily damaged the front of the vehicle.

Richardson said a witness traveling behind the Buick said the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve in the road.

"Their comment was that the vehicle just continued straight into the semi tractor," he said.

Richardson said Wheeler tried to avoid the collision, moving as far right as possible without going off the road. The Buick's speed wasn't immediately known, and there were skid marks, he said.

The crash closed Indiana 37 for about four hours. Officials with the Indiana Department of Transportation also responded to the collision because the semi's driver's side fuel tank ruptured, spewing roughly 100 gallons of diesel onto the road.

INDOT was also at the scene because the impact of the vehicles gouged holes in the pavement. Emergency responders trained to deal with hazardous materials were called to the scene because of the fuel spill.

Richardson said the cause of the crash remains under investigation.

Assisting at the scene were the Madison County Coroner's Office, Elwood Police Department and EMS, Pipe Creek Fire Department, Frankton Fire and EMS, Madison County Haz-Mat, Indiana State Police and Madison County Emergency Management Agency.

Madison County Deputy Prosecutor Patrick Ragains also said the girl denied having sex with Wendling. That likely led to the rape charge being dropped, but declined comment following the hearing.

"She did tell me that no intercourse occurred," Ragains said during the plea hearing. Wendling's public defender, Angela Warner Sims, declined comment.

Wendling's sentence will be served after he's completed his term at Plainfield Correctional Facility on two counts of operating a vehicle while intoxicated and a single count of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Those sentences should end in March 2008.

Now, among other changes, language is more specific about what the site expects from those who post, and how a comment can be deleted.

Ideally, Light says, it's the users, not the site's operators, that should determine what is discussed, and how. "The comment area is not a journalistic space," he says. "The point is for people to react freely."

And Yahoo News took down its message boards completely in December, with the goal of finding a new system that doesn't let a small group of vocal users dominate the discourse. "Our hope is to raise the value of the conversation," says Yahoo spokesman Brian Nelson.

Harm can be much greater when people are singled out by name on the Web; such attacks can hurt someone's career or home life. One entrepreneur is trying to help people recover from such attacks with a company he started last year: ReputationDefender.

What is the measure of a man?
How do you judge his worth?
It has to be the life he lived,
While he journeyed here on earth.
The world will judge by stature,
By things that he has done,
By things that he accomplished,
By things that he has won.
But God uses a larger measure,
To tell what's in the heart,
To see the kindness of the soul,
That set the man apart.
And so, by God's great standard,
The test that means the most,
We know that he has passed the test,
And resides with the Heavenly Host.
That does not erase our pain of loss,
We still must grieve and weep,
But it does give us strength and peace,
To know he's in God's arms to keep.
That is the measure of a man!
Love, Rachel

Thanks for the email Karen.
Yes, mom called me Wednesday night, she and my sister will be at the funeral today.
I wish I could be there, but I have to fly to Greensboro NC Monday and just couldn't drive up and drive back in time.
(Or arrange a flight that didn't cost a small fortune.)

I talked to Maxine Thursday night, and she is handing this better than I would have. I think you're right about her faith keeping her same.

Karen

Good to hear from you as well, and to know someone in the Anderson area that has an interest in the family history! Hopefully we can get together my next time in Indiana. My dad's family (including my Uncle Jerry, who is a good friend of your cousin Dick), either knows very little about the family or doesn't really care too much (except for Aunt Maxine).

When my dad's brothers and sisters were growing up in the 30s and 40s everyone in the family that was not a well known brother, sister, cousin, etc., was just one of "daddy's cousins" (their "daddy" being my grandfather, Kenneth Swinford, 1899-1977).

You mention in your email that your mom has a good memory, and I'd love to meet her when I'm back home again. You said she keeps in touch with Albert's children. Which of his children (or grandchildren) would this be? Are they still in the Anderson or Madison County area?

Thanks for the information on your father, and your mom's father and grandfather. I have some information on Lewis (sometimes listed as William Lewis Swinford) and a little on Everett, but I didn't have their death dates or burial places until now.

I do have a different birth date for your g-grandfather Lewis though, from his WWI draft registration card. I'm going to try to attach the image for it to this email, but it states he was born Dec 7, 1874, his address was 509 Anderson Avenue, and he was a Patrolman for the Anderson Police force. Please let me know if you get the attachment and can view it.

I have a picture of what I believe to be the 1915 Swinford/McCarty reunion in Anderson, and this may be the same picture you have. It's very long (over a foot) and about 5 inches high. I'm scanning the picture this week and can send you to see if it's the same one you have.

I've only identified a few people in my reunion picture, with the help of the person who gave it to me a few weeks ago, Paul Benjamin Swinford, son of Ralph Taylor Swinford, grandson of William Henry Swinford (all from the Flat Rock, Shelby County Indiana area). Paul now lives NW of Spencer, Indiana with his daughter, and will soon turn 89. He and my dad (Kenneth Elbert Swinford, 1920-1987) worked in the factory together at General Motors in Indianapolis for almost 30 years, and boated, fished and drank a bit together, though dad always said "that SOB" was no relative of his! I try to visit Paul every time I'm back in Indiana.

If the reunion picture you have is a different one, I'd be very extremely interested in getting a copy of your picture and will pay the expenses to get it copied and sent to me. Then I can scan it as well and add it to my photo archives. My goal is to capture and digitally store as many old Swinford pictures as I can get my hands on, so my children will not be in the position I was growing up with almost no family pictures.

Well, this email has been far too long, so I will gin off for now. I look forward to exchanging information with you. I have almost every subscription to records on Ancestry.com (except for the UK and European collections), so let me know if there is anything I can look up for you.

Good to hear from you! Glad someone, besides me ,was excited about the find. First thought the trunk was military but after examination, and thought I think that it may have been from a trip Basil had done for the university. It is 30 1/2 x 12 1/2 x 17 " Two labels and Basil's name on one label and painted on the trunk. My scanner is not working but I did take pictures for the genealogy book. I'll send one to you -so thanks for the address.

Your information regarding my family was correct. Mother married Philip F Mckay Grandfather was Lewis Wm Swinford 12-12-1874/12-20-1939 (son of Wm and Nancy Harrell Swinford). Father was Everitt P Swinford. 9-12-1894/7-25-1957. Both buried at e maplewood cem in Anderson, In along with their wives. Will be glad to share any info. Would like to know more about the Harrison Co Tn hx.

Have a picture of a Swinford reunion about 1912 Sm dtill in the process of ID as many as I can find. Mother is 93 1/2 Her mind is still very good. She has been a great help with the names and stories. Would loved to have gotten with you on your visit. Maybe next time. My cousin,Dick ( son of Harry Halford Swinford ) is good friends with Maxine's brother. She has been such fun visiting. Have lots of info in James Albert's group since mother and his children have kept in touch.

Good to hear from you. I sent the pictures of the trunk in yesterday's mail. I couldn't get the attachment. I need a reader program I guess. I have acrobat 5, Would love to see the picture you have I'll get mine out to you. Will send disc so you can enlarge portions. That was the easiest for me to show the older people. ( like I'm not one-- Ha) The size of the picture is not the same as you mentioned. It would be wonderful if they were not alike. We think the date on this picture is 1912 approx due to the size on my uncle held in his dad's arms. There is a lot of Swinford info in the MCKay MCCarty book compiled by Mr Limpus His mother was a McCarty descendant . Three of the Swinford men married McCarty women. I believe he is from New Boston , Texas. There are a few errors on the information for our immediate branch but I have found most of his documentation to be well researched. Hope to see you soon. Mother will be delighted to visit with you about the Swinford's she has known. James Alberts daughter Bertha -m- Vier Pettigrew-- Have had lots of contact with this family over the years. Mother grew up with and remembers several of the other children too. More Later- Karen

Has anyone on this forum heard or read of any Swinfords living in Bone Gap, IL? My grandfather spoke of living there early in his life, and when I was a tiny child I remember coming back to Indiana from a trip to Missouri with my parents and grandparents and stopping in Bone Gap on the way. This was in Edwards Co.

Thanx

Bypassed by the world, B.G. only has about 100 people. Edwards Co one of IL's oldest (1810's). Financed devel. of Chicago & New Harmony, IN. B.G. supposedly French in deriv. (Bon, good) something. Others in this forum have ancestors coming to far SE IL (Golconda, Shawneetown). Can't imagine why anyone would settle in B.G. Interesting paths of migration.

Thanks Karen. The gentleman I was emailing this morning (and copied you on the email), is Basil's son Jim Swinford. I'll let him decide if he is interested, though I think it would be great to have if it were my dad's trunk.

I only have a few old Swinford pictures myself, and I still plan to scan the Swinford/McCarty reunion picture and send it to you via email this week. I'm real interested to see if it is different than yours. I can also send you the pictures I have, which I've scanned over the years to protect them. The only one picture I do not have scanned at the moment is a picture of my g-grandfather Mathew (1872-1916) that I just saw this past Labor Day on my Aunt Maxine's wall in her Huntsville home. I plan to scan it when I'm back in Indiana again.

I plan to visit Jim in the next few weeks (he lives about 50 miles from me in Euless, Texas), and I'll have to see if he has any other old Swinford photos I can scan.

Great to know the origin of the trunk. Will gladly send the trunk to you if you want it. Mother still keeps in touch with a lot of James Albert's children , really grand children. Bertha's family , the Pettigrews, have always been a part of my memories. Mother tells lots of stories of when they were all young. She is 92 1/2 now. Her memory is good. She still gets around great too. Would love to know if you have any pictures of the Swinford clan. I'm still looking for a picture of my g g grand father Wm Swinford. He died so young . I haven't been able to track any down. Well let me know if your family wants the trunk. Send address. Good to connect. Karen Carter.

Sorry I haven't gotten back to you. Between work, home and my kids it has been a crazy few weeks.

I've scanned and done some cleanup on the 1915 Swinford McCarty Reunion photo that Paul B. Swinford of Spencer gave me, and the left side and right side of the picture are below. There is some overlap. I can send you the larger version (more detailed for zooming in on all of these faces), and I can send you a few more old Swinford pictures that I have. To think there are pictures of several of my ancestors and relatives there that I never had or thought I would have, if I could only find someone to recognize and identify them!

It's been crazy at work, but I plan to send you a CD sometime this week.

Have you ever heard from Basil's son Jim on whether he wants the trunk or not?
I haven't heard from him for a while.

Thanks for the 1915 reunion picture. Will take it to my Anderson cousin when I get the cd- my computer doesn't have the resolution it should. My uncle brought his pictures over last night. There was a tintype that is Wm and Nancy Swinford. What a find. He didn't know he had it. He just knew it was gma and gpa Swinford. Mother looked at it and knew it was not Louis and Elnora. We compared it to other pictures of Nancy. Was thrilled. Will forward a copy of the tintype.

Haven't heard from the Basil Swinford group yet. Did they have any old pictures of there grandfather?

Good luck with the balancing family, work, fun . Sounds like you do a pretty good job of it.

In Madison County District Numbe

Fri June 28, 1918

In the drawing of numbers by which the most recent registrants for military service are placed in the order by which they will be called for examination, Paul E. North, 2003 Cedar street, who was the 246th of 249 to register recently, became No. 1 in the order of numbers fixed yesterday.

Russel J. Ward, R. R. 12, Anderson, who was first to register of the young men who were twenty-one years old, drew a new number well down the list yesterday.

As these registrants appear before Madison County Draft Board No. 1 they will be given serial numbers. The registrants whose order of draft numbers was fixed yesterday will not be called until registrants in class No. 1 ahead of them are exhausted.

Result of Drawing Yesterday.

The drawing yesterday fixed these numbers for men who registered early in June, 1918.

No.
1—Paul O. North.
2—Fred Thomas.

In Madison County District Numbe

Fri June 28, 1918

In the drawing of numbers by which the most recent registrants for military service are placed in the order by which they will be called for examination, Paul E. North, 2003 Cedar street, who was the 246th of 249 to register recently, became No. 1 in the order of numbers fixed yesterday.

Russel J. Ward, R. R. 12, Anderson, who was first to register of the young men who were twenty-one years old, drew a new number well down the list yesterday.

As these registrants appear before Madison County Draft Board No. 1 they will be given serial numbers. The registrants whose order of draft numbers was fixed yesterday will not be called until registrants in class No. 1 ahead of them are exhausted.

Result of Drawing Yesterday.

The drawing yesterday fixed these numbers for men who registered early in June, 1918.

which put him in a position of trust, should add to the severity of the sentence.

Lawrence and appellate attorney Christopher Cage argued the court misused the aggravating factors in sentencing and disputed the length of the sentence.

Indiana Court of Appeals Judge Terry Crone upheld the conviction, writing in his decision that Lawrence was abusive of nearly every person in the courtroom during sentencing and that he failed to appreciate the damage he'd done to the victim.

"Lawrence's acts were both heinous and numerous," Crone wrote. "Not only did he fail to show remorse, but he also mocked [the victim] and spewed vitriolic statements aimed at her family and the officers of the court."

Crone also cited Lawrence's criminal past and his unwillingness to take responsibility to change himself.

Bloomington ends free distribution of leaf bags

BLOOMINGTON — Bloomington residents who want to go green as they corral their leaves will have to pay for biodegradable paper bags themselves this year as the city promotes composting and tries to save money.

The city had offered the bags at no cost for years but expects to save $20,000 by halting the practice.

The end of the free bags comes a year after the city changed how it operates its vacuum trucks.

Penny Howard-Myers of the city's Public Works Department said officials have divided the city into nine sections. The city sends one truck into each section, and the drivers vacuum up leaves with the heaviest accumulations.

In the past, the city sent trucks to neighborhoods during specific weeks.

Mayor Mark Kruzan said the city has considered eliminating the vacuum trucks to reduce costs and to be more environmentally friendly, but officials decided to continue them this year because the city was not distributing the free bags.

Leaf bags are picked up at no cost if they are put on the curb alongside trash. Residents also can push their leaves to the curb until the vacuum trucks come.

Marte Swinford was the life of the party

By STACEY M. LANE GROSH
Features Editor

He was a terrible singer, but sang boisterously in public and in the shower.

He was a "chick magnet."

He was also a mortgage broker with a wicked sense of humor, full of independence and gusto and, according to friends and family, a phenomenal pointillism artist creating pen and ink portraits.

After a two-year battle, Marte Swinford, 32, died Oct. 31 of cancer due to complications of hemochromatosis, a common genetic disease that causes iron to build up in the blood and organs, eventually causing cancerous cells to develop.

"He had this sarcastic mean streak," recalled his sister, Amber Welker. "He could (tick) you off one moment and make you laugh at yourself for being mad the next. Right now (after the funeral Thursday) we all feel like this is a party where Marte doesn't happen to be here. It's hard to believe he's gone."

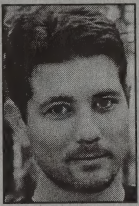
"He had an affinity for the women," laughed Jason Welker in the background. He was Swinford's brother-in-law and best friend.

The family then began joking about how Swinford's friends hung out with him just to catch some of the beautiful women he'd attract. He eventually attracted one at a bar who he fell madly in love with, his girlfriend of four years, Vanessa Ramos.

"He was usually the life of the party and had a pretty charismatic personality," said his mother, Cassandra Riggs of Anderson. "He was a chick magnet. For instance, when we were trying to tell stories about him for the funeral, there were a lot of things you just couldn't say, if you get my drift."

Swinford, an Anderson High graduate, moved to Arizona by himself five years ago.

"He told me as a young man that 'I watch you guys work your butts off your whole lives for your retirement years, but retire when you're old and too tired to do anything – that's not going to be me. I'm going to live life to the fullest, have my retirement years first and then turn 30 and turn into an adult,'" said his father, Dan of Mishawaka. "And that's what he did."



Swinford was all about being spontaneous and having a good time.

"He liked to sing in the shower; he's a terrible singer, but would fake it real good," said Azure Malbone, Swinford's youngest sister. "His friends would go up to Vegas and he was a partier and would go with them and cause chaos. He'd just drop down in front of a stranger and serenade them. Crowds would gather around – the person would have no idea what was going on – and then he'd break into a laugh, get up and walk away like nothing had happened. ... If nothing else, he was a lot of fun."

"(I'll miss) his sense of humor and cockiness," added Malbone's husband, Michael. "We thought he was going to get away with murder forever."

The Riggs jumped in with a quick comment.

"Like when he told us, 'I've got cancer and I'm still better looking than all you guys!'" and she burst into laughter.

"We just thought he was going to always be that way," Michael added.

State revenue falls below projections

By MIKE SMITH
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS – State tax collections fell below expectations again in October, digging a deeper financial hole for state government that lawmakers might be forced to address in next year's legislative session.

October revenue was $24.1 million, or 3 percent, below target, the State Budget Agency said Thurs-for the month compared with a year ago, excluding the effects of a sales tax rate increase.

The sales tax revenue increase – the biggest since November 2001, Schultz said – came as the nation's gross domestic product in the third quarter grew at 7.2 percent. That was the strongest pace since the first quarter of 1984.

Indiana's sales tax revenue fell $74 million below forecast in the

Larry Fox finally has time for his woodcarving hobby

By MARY BETH WAGNER
Staff Reporter

FRANKTON – Larry Fox, 63, always had an artistic streak but lacked opportunity to use it.

Fox wanted to take art classes in high school, but couldn't fit them into his schedule. Then came a toolmaking career, a wife and three children.

When Fox retired from Delphi in 1999, he finally got his chance. His wife, Ruth, handed him an advertisement for a New Castle woodcarving class. After 12 weeks carving a beaver just a few inches long, he was off and running, moving up to a crane and a mountain man. Now Fox is greatly enjoying turning tree stumps and wood blocks into a menagerie of lifelike critters, using everything from knife to chainsaw.

"If I wasn't carving, I'd probably be doing something else," Fox said. "I just wish I'd started this several years ago instead of waiting till I retired."

Fox started carving in the kitchen, but soon wearied of sweeping up the chips night after night. He met other carvers around the area, and they started a club. Every Wednesday, they meet around a pingpong table in Fox's garage and whittle away the evening. The club is named "Banks Staley's West Central Carvers," honoring a late founding member.

The Lord is My Shepherd: I shall not want. He maketh me lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: For thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil: My cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.....

EDGEWOOD FUN FACTS

■ Farmer Wade Donnelly began the Edgewood Development Corporation in the late 1920s. His vision started with a few homes between Woods Road and Central Way. Part of his plan was to give Edgewood homeowners 100 shares in the Edgewood Golf Club Inc. when a person bought a home. This exchange was compensation for the club initiation fee. Donnelly donated the golf club to Edgewood.

■ Park School was the first of its kind in Edgewood. First through fourth graders received instruction in one room, fifth through eighth graders in the next. Besides the two rooms, the exterior of the school house consisted of a water pump and outhouse. Since school buses didn't exist, students would have to live more than a half mile from Park School before Milton Denny picked up children on a horse-drawn hack. And, during that time, the only heat the students and teacher received were from stoves to keep them warm. Park School, situated at Park Road and Nichol Avenue, was demolished on the east corner in 1928 – just as Edgewood School was being built. Between that time, children were taught in homes up until the four-room school opened its doors in 1930.

Remember When?

This was a school bus back in 1922. The driver was Milton Denny. The photo was taken at Nichol Avenue and Park Road. The school bus served the Anderson Township Schools. The bus hauled students to the schoolhouse that used to be at the corner of Park and Nichol. A branch of Citizens Banking Co. is now at that location. This photo was loaned to the Herald Bulletin by Fred Welker. If you have any photos of Anderson or Madison County people, places or events, bring them to the HB newsroom. They may be suitable for "Remember when?"

Government trust gone

The June 7 hearing on the Madison County recount issue of extra high costs showed the county has a one-party system. Officially, the county had one Democrat and one Republican lawyer at table to represent the Board of Elections. And Board of Election claims to be honest by having one from each party. But functions as a one-party system.

The Republican lawyer cherry-picked election laws that promoted the Republican Party. Republican objective is to have a secret government. Board of Election wanted to charge candidate an extra $3,000 a day. Which would have prevented the recount because of high costs.

Democrat lawyer did nothing.

Statements by BOE members were strong and clear. Counting votes has been outsourced. And BOE does not know how to count votes with new system. Votes now counted by secret software that only ES&S knows how to run. They want the public to trust them without any oversight.

The school board candidate wanting the recount did her own legal homework and gave judge the correct law. She would have lost (no recount) if she had trusted the county lawyers. And she did not have time to hire own lawyer.

The judge ruled in favor of candidates' right to a recount without threats of extra high charges.

Judge should have also filed a complaint, bad lawyers both parties.

My trust in Madison County government is gone.

Design unveiled for Sept. 11 memorial

NEW YORK — A somewhat scaled-down design for the Sept. 11 memorial that retains the central elements of the original — including reflecting pools and the inscribed names of the victims — was unveiled Tuesday after the project was sent back to the drawing board because the cost was pushing $1 billion.

Mayor Michael Bloomberg and Gov. George Pataki signed off on the more modest proposal, more than a month after asking developer Frank Sciame to find ways to reduce the cost to $500 million.

Sciame managed to cut the cost by more than $285 million by shrinking the size of the memorial museum, removing portions of the galleries around the pools where the names were to be listed, and consolidating all entrances into a visitors center. The new design will also raise the victims' names to street level.

Iraqi/Bush coalition casualties exceed WTC

Bin Laden attacked the World Trade Center and federal investigators estimated the number of deaths as of July 20, 2004, to be 2,749. But was that the worst?

President Bush attacked Saddam Hussein. And now the Iraqi/Bush war coalition casualties are 2,755 as of June 29. That is greater than the WTC attack. Fifty are from Indiana and three from Madison County, two from Anderson, one from Elwood. And the list continues to grow with no end in sight.

As for my threat analysis, I was able to check on availability of terrorism training and have seen how Bush is creating anti-American conditions. As a veteran I have a better idea of what war is about than Bush. At political level, Bush has rejected plans that would have redistributed U.S. troops to safer positions and saved lives.

I figured out who is the greatest threat to the U.S. History says the future is not good.

Many voters think they can change things at the polls. Ha! Ha! The election system has been changed so 80 percent could vote for change and still lose.

Preceding the double ring rite, read by Rev. Earl R. Shay before a background of palms and white flowers illuminated with candelabra. Miss Irene Holder sang "At Dawning," "Because" and "Perfect Love."

Carrying a white orchid and stephanotis bouquet and wearing a gown of white taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father The fitted bodice of the gown featured a portrait neckline of crystal pleated tulle with reembroidered accents of lace. The sleeves were short and she wore long taffeta mitts. The skirt, gathered at the hipline, extended into a chapel train. Her veil, fingertip length, was of silk illusion edged with Chantilly lace.

Ballerina gowns in green and yellow crystalette were worn by Mrs. John Gilliland, matron of honor and the Misses Barbara Adams and Joyce Simmons, bridesmaids. The molded bodices featured V necklines and brief sleeves, and pleated cuffs encircling the dropped waistlines formed bustle bows at the skirt backs. They wore headbands of daisies and carried baskets of daisies. Jim Moser was the groom's attendant and ushering were Earl Higgins, Sam Swinford and Howard Epperson.

An aqua linen sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses was the ensemble worn by Mrs. Swinford for her daughter's wedding and the groom's mother wore light blue with white accents and a pink rose corsage.

The serving table for a reception in the church held a three-tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl flanked with smilax and daisies. Crystal candelabra holding yellow and green tapers completed the appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Holder left for a northern trip and their at-home address after July 2 will be 1130 N. Tecumseh St., Indianapolis. Mrs. Holder, who chose a charcoal gray printed dress with white accessories for traveling, is employed by the Kroger Company in Indianapolis. The groom, a graduate of Purdue University, is employed by the Anchor Serum Company in Indianapolis.

With several guests from Shelbyville and Flat Rock, other out of county guests for the ceremony were from Indianapolis, Marion, Greensburg, Royal Center and Moracco

Dear Gladys:

Congratulations! You're not old - you've just been young a long time!

When I turn my mind around and look back I can see the hundreds of times that you and George brightened our days. It was always "fun" time when you came in with some story about what had happened or what was going to happen.

I well remember when you came to St. Paul and the obstacles you faced and solved. Perhaps I can illustrate my feelings best by repeating a little verse I wrote after visiting Connecticut the first time -- certainly it reminds me of what you and George did on your farm.

Connecticut fences are thousands of stones.
No mortar - no cement - each standing alone.
A tribute to farmers, using at hand
The obstacles found as they cleared off their land.

I've marveled at all the wonders of old.
The pyramids - spinx - patience untold!
But my hat's off to the man - leading the pack
The Connecticut farmer - and his aching back!

I watched as you and George cleared the stones and I admired you for making such a good farm.

Thanks for the good memories I have of you and accept my best wishes for the days to come.

Sincerely,

Bob Mitchell

DEATHS-FUNERALS

Matthew Swinford, an aged and respected citizen of Shelby township, and a pioneer of Shelby county, died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning of senility. For weeks he was in a precarious condition and his death was momentarily expected by the members of the family. Mr. Swinford was seventy-seven years of age, but the life of toil and strife in the county's formation decreased his days upon earth, ageing him before his time. Mr. Swinford was a hard worker, his labors beginning at the chanticleer's clarion note and ending at the hour of the setting sun.

Of the allotted number of years Mr. Swinford spent seventy-one in Shelby county. His acquaintance was extensive. Mr. Swinford was an honest, affable, upright man, one that Shelby county could not afford to lose. By birth Mr. Swinford was a Kentuckian.

Surviving are the aged widow, four boys, three girls, twenty-one grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The children are Joshua, James, Sylvanus, Claude, and Mrs. Edith Worden, Mrs. Nettie Perkins and Mrs. Nora Mounts, all of this county. One brother, Joshua Swinford, of Anderson, and two sisters, Mrs. Casander Coil, of Howard county, and Mrs. Polly Stephens, of Tipton, also survive.

Funeral services will be held at the Pleasant Grove Christian church, of which he was a member, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, Rev. Carl Burkhart officiating. Interment in the Lewis Creek Baptist cemetery in charge of Stewart & Fix, of this city.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.

Judge Blair Frees Woman Who Married A Man, Robert P. Smith, Who Is Said To Be A Bigamist

--------

SMITH STILL MISSING

Chances Are He Will Locate In Some remote Part of Country And Will Send For Indianapolis Sweetheart

Nora Swinford-Smith is now a free woman, as far as matrimonial bonds are concerned, Judge Blair, shortly before noon today, rendering a decision in her favor. The plaintiff brought proceedings of this nature against Robert P. Smith, alleged bigamist, who broke jail Thursday night of last week, since which time nothing has been learned of his whereabouts.

The evidence in the annulment proceedings was heard at least two weeks ago by Judge Blair and he withheld his decision until the case of Smith could be heard, his trial being set for last Saturday. The man, however, broke jail, and since then his whereabouts have been unknown to the authorities.

The plaintiff in the case married Smith on September 27, 1910, while he was a soldier located at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis. Smith claimed that he was a single man. He returned to his post and in December, 1911, Mrs. Smith heard that he had a wife, Mollie Smith, at Mangum, Oklahoma, and she wrote there, receiving a reply that woman was also the wife of Smith. She said that she had heard that he had a wife in Texas.

When Smith came here in December his Shelbyville wife accused him of having another wife and he did not deny the charges. He left that day and did not return until in March. When he came here he wrote a note to her asking to call at her home. An affirmative reply was given, but he was arrested before he had time to go to the Swinford home.

Then there appeared another sweetheart, Gertrude Foust, of Indianapolis. She came here and it is said broke off the engagement, but this was untrue as letters between the two showed. Smith has made good his escape and the chances are that his Indianapolis sweetheart will later join him when he gets located and believes himself to be out of danger as far as the charges against him here is concerned.

The plaintiff brought proceedings of this nature against Robert P. Smith, alleged bigamist, who broke jail Thursday night of last week, since which nothing has been learned of his whereabouts.

The evidence in the annulment proceedings was heard at least two weeks ago by Judge Blair and he withheld his decision until the case of Smith could be heard, his trial being set for last Saturday. The man, however, broke jail, and since then his whereabouts have been unknown to the authorities.

The plaintiff in the case married Smith on September 27, 1910, while he was a soldier located at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis. Smith claimed that he was a single man. He returned to his post and in December, 1911, Mrs. Smith heard that he had a wife, Mollie Smith, at Mangum, Oklahoma, and she wrote there, receiving a reply that woman was also the wife of Smith. She said that she had heard that he had a wife in Texas.

When Smith came here in December his Shelbyville wife accused him of having another wife and he did not deny the charges. He left that day and did not return until in March. When he came here he wrote a note to her asking to call at her home. An affirmative reply was given, but he was arrested before he had time to go to the Swinford home.

Then there appeared another sweetheart, Gertrude Faust, of Indianapolis. She came here and it is said broke off the engagement, but this was untrue as letters between the two showed. Smith has made good his escape and the chances are that his Indianapolis sweetheart will later join him when he gets located and believes himself to be out of danger as far as the charges against him here is concerned.

I have a bit more info on this William Henry Swinford now (Abt. 1858-October 07, 1913) and his family if you are interested. I am also planning to visit his grandson Paul Benjamin Swinford in the next week or so while I am back in Indiana, so I may have more data after.

I happened to run across this old posting of yours this morning while searching for info on my gg-grandmother Susan McCarty. Russell Swinford was my grandfather Kenneth Swinford's older brother. I don't have much on him, other than birth and death dates and where he is buried (a few feet away from my dad and grandparents in Huntsville), but he was married to an Ambrose so this appears to be the same Russell. Happy to share any info I have on his ancestors, and would appreciate any info on Russell, his wife and children.

Yes, I would love to see such a picture. I have a few pieces of information Marybelle left me with family information but another family member gave me some things that conflict. Could you help clear up some fuzzy points?

way to keep intra-family squabbles to a minimum.

Finally, my Sienna tester came with a feature I'd never seen before in any minivan from the factory: a seat that will electronically slide out, making it easy to load elderly or disabled passengers into the van.

Called the Auto Access Seat, it lets you press a button or use a remote control to make the seat scoot out and pivot like a robot, lowering itself near the ground outside the vehicle for easy access. After your passenger is in the seat, you press a button again to motor their seat back into the cabin, safe and secure.

The Sienna has long been the softest, quietest, smoothest-riding van you can buy. People who like more driving feedback and a firmer, more car-like ride typically prefer the Honda Odyssey, and people who enjoy a floaty, isolating ride choose the Sienna.

Why buy it?

It's the softest riding, quietest minivan you can buy. It feels solidly built and is available with lots of features for keeping your passengers happy, comfortable and entertained. The Lounge Seating is amazing.

Both of these top-tier Japanese vans enjoy impressive resale value, which helps justify their premium starting prices, at least when compared to the Dodge vans that are more popular and don't seem as solidly built. The Dodge Grand Caravan starts at $20,595 for a very basic model, compared to $26,920 for the lowest-priced Sienna and $28,825 for the base Odyssey.

With the Auto Access Seat and a long list of luxury add-ons, my test van rang up over $47,000, or about what I paid for my first house.

For that price, you're really buying an exotic dream car for moms and dads. It's a Ferrari or Lamborghini for people with booster seats, packed with a remarkable amount of engineering, luxury and family-friendly forethought.

Glancing around the cabin, it's clear that the Sienna was designed by people who know what families need on road trips: the seats that easily fold flat into the floor, the myriad storage bins and cubbies everywhere you look, the ample charging ports for your electronic gizmos, and the 11 million strategically located cup holders.

When you combine all that with the high-end luxuries and technologies this minivan can be outfitted with, from mobile apps to the DVD movie player to a blind-spot warning sensor, it can work magic on the road.

It makes long highway trips not only bearable, but enjoyable.

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Hundreds of angry people marched through Harlem on Saturday after the Rev. Al Sharpton promised to "close this city down" to protest the acquittals of three police detectives in the 50-shot barrage that killed a groom on his wedding day and wounded two friends.

"We strategically know how to stop the city so people stand still and realize that you do not have the right to shoot down unarmed, innocent civilians," Sharpton told an overflow crowd of several hundred people at his National Action Network office in the historically black Manhattan neighborhood. "This city is going to deal with the blood of Sean Bell."

Sharpton was joined by the family of 23-year-old Sean Bell — a black man — and a friend of Bell who was wounded in the 2006 shooting outside a Queens strip club. Two of the three officers charged were also bl

What will our legacy be?

We have the opportunity to preserve a woodland for all time. Where? Right here in Madison County, along Columbus Avenue between Interstate 69 and U.S. 36. Sixty acres that, according to Tom Swinford, an Indiana Department of Natural Resources ecologist, is a "very nice example of the once vast flatlands ecosystem" that covered central Indiana before it was cleared and drained to become cornfields.

But time is short — $275,000 must be raised before May 1, or lumbering may begin soon! That would be a tragedy, because a chance like this comes only once. "While this woods has a history of human utilization, fine stands of mixed native hardwoods of maples, ash, hickory and oak are still found on the site," says Swinford. "There is also an intact rich herbaceous layer of native spring wildflowers and a small length of Sugar Creek contained within the property."

The Red-tail Conservancy land trust is looking for help in buying the property and turning it into a nature preserve with only a primitive trail and small gravel parking lot added for its human visitors. The conservancy's track record is good. Most recently in 2004, it was able to purchase and preserve 79 woodland acres in Randolph County after three major benefactors donated the majority of the $345,000 needed.

Think of our children, grandchildren, and future generations. Let us meet this challenge now!

For more information on the Red-tail Conservancy, go to: www.fortheland.org, or call Barry Banks, its founder, at (765) 288-2587.

Hi Karen

I was just in a Indiana a few weeks ago, and my Aunt Maxine told me you had visited her in Huntsville. She enjoyed meeting your mother Wanda. I understand you have a trunk with Basil Swinford's name carved in it, and I'm contacting his sons that live near me here in the Dallas TX area to see if they are interested in it. Is there any way you can email me a digital picture of it or a regular picture by US mail? Here is my address:

> Lee Swinford
> 6001 Canvas Back Drive
> Frisco TX 75034
> 972-334-0842

I have your address and phone number now, thanks to Maxine.

FYI… You are the 2nd cousin twice removed of Basil Meridith Swinford (1895-1981), who was a professor at Ball State before moving his family to Texas many years ago. His two sons, James and Phil, are both still teachers in the Dallas area and are in their 70s. Their grandfather, (Basil's father), was James Albert Swinford (1872-1931) is buried in Huntsville, Albert, as he was called, was a first cousin to your g-grandfather William Lewis Swinford (1874-???). (I am your 4th cousin.)

I had to go back through RootsWeb to see what we had corresponded about, but I didn't seem to have you in my data. I've been "fleshing out" the more recent Swinford lines recently since I haven't made a great deal of progress on the pre-1800s Swinfords, but I have been able to correct some past errors in my data and "connect the dots" several places that were just gaps before.

If I have the correct person identified, your mother is Wanda Faye Swinford, born 17 May 1914 in Madison County, Indiana. I have her father and mother as Everett P. Swinford and Lula Hudson, probably from records I found in the Anderson Library Indiana Room. Is this correct? Do you have birth and death dates and locations for your grandparents? What was you father's name (I have "Unknown McKay"). I'm interested in any information you choose to share.

LEE SWINFORD
FRISCO TX

Good to hear from you! Glad someone, besides me ,was excited about the find. First thought the trunk was military but after examination, and thought I think that it may have been from a trip Basil had done for the university. It is 30 1/2 x 12 1/2 x 17 " Two labels and Basil's name on one label and painted on the trunk. My scanner is not working but I did take pictures for the genealogy book. I'll send one to you -so thanks for the address. Your information regarding my family was correct. Mother married Philip F Mckay Grandfather was Lewis Wm Swinford 12-12-1874/12-20-1939 (son of Wm and Nancy Harrell Swinford). Father was Everitt P Swinford. 9-12-1894/7-25-1957. Both buried at e maplewood cem in Anderson, In along with their wives. Will be glad to share any info. Would like to know more about the Harrison Co Tn hx. Have a picture of a Swinford reunion about 1912 Sm dtill in the process of ID as many as I can find. Mother is 93 1/2 Her mind is still very good. She has been a great help with the names and stories. Would loved to have gotten with you on your visit. Maybe next time. My cousin,Dick ( son of Harry Halford Swinford ) is good friends with Maxine's brother. She has been such fun visiting. Have lots of info in James Albert's group since mother and his children have kept in touch. More later cuz Karen

Great to know the origin of the trunk. Will gladly send the trunk to you if you want it. Mother still keeps in touch with a lot of James Albert's children , really grand children. Bertha's family , the Pettigrews, have always been a part of my memories. Mother tells lots of stories of when they were all young. She is 92 1/2 now. Her memory is good. She still gets around great too. Would love to know if you have any pictures of the Swinford clan. I'm still looking for a picture of my g g grand father Wm Swinford. He died so young . I haven't been able to track any down. Well let me know if your family wants the trunk. Send address. Good to connect. Karen Carter.

Lee,

In 1945 Dad, (Basil), was one of several college professors sent to Europe to teach classes for the GI's who were waiting for discharge and transportation home. The pictures you have sent cause me to believe that this trunk is the one he used to send supplies there.

Was your father the son of Basil, the son of James Albert Swinford of Anderson, Indiana? If so, your grandfather Basil was my uncle.

...bring up that old story about John of Gaunt and the widow Swinford, there are dozens of Swinford genealogists in the U.S. Most likely we arrived Baltimore sometime from 1678-1691, though there's a possibility of Halifax in 1742. Are you very far back with your family?

The town of SWINFORD is in NW Ireland in County Mayo. I wrote to the chamber of commerce or equivalent and was told that they did not have any record of how it got the name.
There is a SWIMFORD BRIDGE near Oxford, England, but the owner does not know how it got the name.
My father, Basil M. Swinford went there while stationed in England during WW II
There is a photo of the bridge on

So sorry Karen. I've been meaning to email you but I've been running like a headless chicken this week trying to get everything done before I go on a motorcycle roadtrip with some friends Friday thru Sunday in Arkansas.

I'm extremely happy to hear your granddaughter's surgery went well. Riley is an amazing place. While I was attending IUPUI I was a university mailman, and Riley was one of my routes on the IU Med Center campus. (I also met my wife on the med center while I was her mailman, delivering mail to her in the Coleman Administration building, which used to be the Coleman Women's Hospital, which was where I was born!)

I received the disc and it is not the same reunion! (Or the same picture at least.)
I'm scanning the one I was given by Paul Swinford and will send you a CD with several views, as you did. The original picture itself is 6 inches high and 15 inches long, so there is a lot of detail and people I have no idea who they are!

I plan to visit Jim Swinford in Euless (Basil's son) the weekend after next so I'll ask him again if he wants the trunk.

Prayers and skillful hands are wonderful together. g daughter is doing fine .Spent most of the last 5 days in Indy. I ducked in and out to check on mom. Was amazed at the changes since I was down there in the 60's. Riley Hospital was built around , which pleased me. I still had trouble determining where the old units were located. Hope you had gotten the disc. Was it the same as your picture? Am dying to hear. Haven't heard from Basil Swinford's clan about the trunk. Thought maybe they will let you know when you visit them. Let me know. Went to Ruth Pettigrew Leedom's birthday ( one of the duck in days- to take mom) Found a great picture . You may already have. Will put on disc and forward. or priint and forward. More later , Karen

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.

Christina, I have information on Robert E. and both his wives. He was married to Sarah Summers first and then to Elizabeth McNutt. I have more information on them because than I do their son Robert. I do have that he was born 2 Mar 1892 in Anderson; died 1979 or 1980 and married 17 Apr 1913 Hazel Etta Buskirk. Would you like information on his parents? If so I will need a snail mail address. # Stimulus package is without merit Ballyhooed "stimulus" package economic panacea for dreaded slowdown/stagflation? Absolutely not! Special bonus rebates and supply-side expenditures create fairy tale funded from thin air (blank checks sans collateral) without merit, and substantially increase the destabilizing current deficit ($400 billion estimated 2008 shortfall)!

"Pump priming" giveaway joke ($150 billion and counting) won't jump-start moribund commerce, but will needlessly expand the notorious federal nightmare — $9 trillion national debt! That embarrassing obligation will never be repaid; moreover, the proliferating "IOU" places overwhelming financial burden on future generation — your descendants! Only irrational fools borrow from the hereafter to sustain extravagant consumption!

Winners and losers? If this senseless legislation becomes law, fairness dictates all taxpayers and Social Security recipients receive equitable payments, based on a consistent formula!

Citizen miscalculation? Don't ever ask incompetent government to help, everything pompous bureaucrats and bombastic politicians touch is transformed into toxic waste! Shame on egocentric demagogues for promulgating expensive boondoggles!

NASA

Last we knew: Lingering concern involves the possible buildup of ice on the tank once it's filled with supercold fuel, and the hazard such shards would pose if they came off during the launch and hit the shuttle.

Latest: NASA on Friday delayed by another two months the first space shuttle flight since the Columbia disaster, saying it needs more time to ensure that the fuel tank does not shed dangerous pieces of ice at liftoff. NASA plans a May or June launch of space shuttle Discovery. Discovery is now scheduled for launch no earlier than July 13.

What's next: The July window extends from July 13 until July 31. If Discovery does not fly in July, the next opportunity would come in September. The 12-day mission will supply much-needed supplies and replacement parts to the space station.

IRAQ

Last we knew: Iraq's interim National Assembly approved a Cabinet lineup on Thursday after nearly three months of political wrangling, laying the groundwork for the first elected government since Saddam Hussein's ouster to take power soon.

Footprints

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonged to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there was only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

A DREAM COME TRUE

Miller's Merry Manor resident Jewell George was granted a wish from the Never Too Late Foundation and became a kindergarten teacher for a day in December. She was adopted by Debbie Hendricks' class at Daleville Elementary School. She returned to the classroom on Valentine's Day and brought the students valentines that she had made for them as well as stuffed animals. The class and George are planning another visit at Easter.

but, more broadly, the art of making movies and the joy they share in watching them. It's likely to stand as the definitive source for Scorsese's views because he is so engaged — and because Schickel knows just the questions to ask.

Scorsese, now 68, reflects on how his upbringing in a Sicilian neighborhood in New York's Lower East Side influenced films such as "Mean Streets," "Taxi Driver," "Goodfellas" and "The Departed." The emotions he felt — anger and rage, loneliness and fear — were muted in life but memorably expressed in the violent confrontations that mark his best-known work.

The films of Hollywood director John Ford influenced Scorsese, but New York maverick John Cassavetes inspired him when he began directing features. Schickel gives each of Scorsese's two dozen films their own chapters. This isn't meant to be a biography. Most personal matters, such as Scorsese's five marriages, are passed over and their influence on his films unexplored. Not so the drug use and emotional and physical meltdowns that affected his work.

Schickel makes no secret that he is a fan and a friend. Still, he challenges the director, presses a point and states outright whether a particular film works for him. He also manages to keep Scorsese on topic

U.S. Sen. Richard Lugar's residency and state Treasurer Richard Mourdock's attendance at one of the state's many financial oversight boards.

The "silly season" generally refers to the truth-stretching and poor sourcing that comes with campaign claims. Lugar political director David Willkie has used the term to deride allegations that the veteran senator is out of touch with Indiana because he hasn't lived here since 1977. Lugar's Democratic and tea party opponents have made hay out of the issue in frequent ads and press conferences.

The Lugar camp has fired back with a stretch of its own, accusing Mourdock of "absenteeism" for missing close to two-thirds of board meetings the state treasurer sits on, even though he's had representatives attend those meetings for the most part.

This round of negative ads lacked the humor Lugar used in 1982 to accuse his then-opponent, Democratic Rep. Floyd Fithian, of similar "absen-

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the path of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for Thou art with me:
Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies;
Thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Footprints

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of foot prints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. "Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me.

The Lord replied, " My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

The majority of my family information is from southern Indiana. In the counties of Jennings, Jefferson and Switzerland. A branch of the Zener's moved in the 1800's to Missouri, they settled in St. Clair and Henry Counties. As is true of most families members ended up all over the country.

My family tree has many branches, some very confusing as I am adopted. It was a family adoption, my birth father is the first cousin of my adopted mother. So my mothers maiden name and my birth name are the same. Confused yet? I did not know I was adopted until I was in my 30's but got to meet my birth parents and my 4 children had more than their fair share of grandparents.

In 2005 I finally found out for sure the maiden name of my birth grandmother Catherine Colvin. I am slowly adding information on this line and it is a large and complicated one. Including the Surnames, Colvin, Lightfoot, Wright, Minor, Waller and more.

The family has been involved in the military from way back starting with the Revolutionary War and continuing thru my oldest son who fought in the Gulf War.

I am fortunate in that my great grandmother Geneva Ayers Stewart kept extensive records and pictures and I have them in our family file. If you are researching Ayers, Stewart and Zener or any surnames in my files I would be happy to help with any information I might have.

Recently I discovered that a number of my family members were involved in the founding of the Neil's Creek Anti Slavery Society in Jefferson County, Indiana. Historic Eleutherian College was connected with the Society, please check out the link to the College it is fascinating.

I did not think about the fact that I have not identified any of my children on this site, so in case you are interested, they are Shawn, Travis, Joel & Andrea Kell and their families. I presently have 11 grandchildren. Of course this is a work in progress, I am learning all the time and discovering things that need correcting so please let me know if you find an error. I also love to meet new "cousins" so please contact me if you find a connection here.

FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the LORD. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonged to him, and the other to the LORD.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the LORD about it. "LORD, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The LORD replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

FAYE & KAREN,

THANKS SO MUCH FOR THE FLOWERS AND YOUR PRESSENCE.

STEVE SMITH

Perhaps you sent a lovely card,
Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day,
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

By SALLY KESTIN
McClatchy-Tribune News Service

FORT LAUDERDALE Fla. — Two Florida Con gressmen plan to file a bill Monday that would prohibit federal disaster aid from being spent on puppet shows, dance lessons and similar activities.

"We've seen outrages not just in isolated areas but really across the country where FEMA, instead of using money to give people emergency aid, ice, food and shelter, ends up subsidizing puppet show operators and gumbo cook-offs," said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Tom Feeney, R-Fla.

"Money is going to people who are not even victims of a hurricane," said the co-sponsor, Rep. Mario Diaz-Balart, R-Fla. "It's getting absolutely no results."

The Congressmen learned of the expenditures from a series of reports in the South Florida Sun-Sentinel on "crisis counseling" grants from the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The grants are available to states to help residents overcome mental health problems caused by a disaster.

Both Brandle and Wilson went to a training session and took testing online to prepare them for their jobs as volunteers.

Wilson, too, won't get to attend the game in person but said volunteers get a special viewing session.

"They issued us coats and gloves, scarves and hats," he said. "So that's kind of a nice extra for volunteering."

The 8,000 Super Bowl volunteers can be identified by the white and blue scarves they're all wearing. The scarves were hand-knitted and crocheted by volunteers before being adorned with an official 2012 Indianapolis Super Bowl Host Committee logo.

White is charged with seven felony counts, including fraud, perjury and theft. If White is convicted of a single count, he faces removal from office and possible prison time.

White

The strategy employed by White's lawyer, Carl Brizzi, is risky, said a professor at the Indiana University School of Law at Indianapolis. Fran Watson, who teaches a criminal defense clinic, said the strategy can work if jurors are unconvinced by the prosecutors' case, but she isn't sure it was wise in White's case.

"It is a sound strategy in that it's always the prosecutor's burden to prove the case beyond a reasonable doubt," Watson said. But, she added, "With seven counts, it's a little hard to believe it's going to work," as the more counts there are against a defendant, the greater the odds that jurors will find him guilty of at least one.

White would be immediately removed from office if jurors find him guilty, said Fred Biesecker, an attorney at Ice Miller who handles government and election law cases.

A Father's Creed

It is appointed by God to every man a certain number of years in his life's span.
He seeks to fill them with knowledge and grace, and draws sweet reward from the smile on his little child's face.
He works hard to earn his daily bread, and honors the commitment to the woman that he wed.
His children grow and wax strong. They draw from him the power to make it on their own.
As his life draws near its end, all that have known him are better because he has been their friend.
For what better testimony of God than such a man. He believed his life was to give all of us, all that I can.

The Twenty-Third Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

The rest of the story

As promised, here is the continued story of Orestes native Dave Dwiggins' search for Madison County WWII soldiers' graves in The Philippines.

My wife Apple and I with the fantastic help of Indiana librarians, journalists, historians, genealogy hobbyists and wonderful volunteers across Indiana and America have teamed up and are discovering new families every day that have not seen [their loved ones'] graves. We send them free high quality photographs including "Tablets of the Missing" via email along with the information we have gathered about each of the servicemen. We are collecting information about their lives and especially enjoy receiving scanned photographs of the men in their military uniforms to display on our website.

The memorial is the largest facility of the American Battle Monuments Commission in the world [including all WW II battle sites in Europe and the Pacific]....

There are 17,202 Americans buried at the memorial and another 36,285 missing in action that are honored on the "Tablets..." The memorial honors 974 Indiana soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Just recently with the assistance of my good friend and longtime history partner, Phyllis Leedom, we were able to locate the family of Sam Calabria. [Sam's brother, Frank, and wife of Anderson had not seen previous notices. Dwiggins sent them a photo of Sam's name on the "Tablets"] and lots of history about his ship and their maneuvers. They were thrilled beyond words.

With WW II veterans dying at the rate of 2,000 per day, and family members old enough to remember them as well, Dwiggins says he feels an urgency.

At the time Dorothy and I moved to CrownPointe, we did not need any additional assistance. However, we looked to the future and made the move when our minds and body were alert. The building is a real "star." But the real star is the staff that takes care of us. They look out for our welfare and care what happens to us. In the future, we will most likely need more healthcare, and if need be, there are additional ancillary resources such as home health agencies and private caregivers. We plan on CrownPointe being home until the end.

CrownPointe meets my needs. I came in a broken woman after having placed my husband in a skilled nursing facility. I am healing with the care and support of everyone — including the kitchen staff. Friendships and fellowship are made over the dinner table. I can be what I want to be and be accepted here. This is the "rose garden of life;" I've already been through the thorns.

Low-cost holiday gifts with big value

McClatchy-Tribune News Service

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. — Brenda Kienan of Oakland, Calif., is "quake-phobic," so for Christmas three years ago she gave her relatives earthquake-preparedness kits.

While quirky, the gift was also useful, and is an example of an alternative present that is more than just an item to fill space under a tree.

Another option: Instead of giving a material possession, make appointments for shared activities with loved ones.

"Our friends and relatives mean a lot to us, but we're all so busy we don't spend time with them," said Brad Stroh, co-chief-executive of San Mateo, Calif.-based Bills.com.

Stroh's company works with consumers to help them avoid, or reduce, debt. Stroh is a big advocate of homemade and low-cost gifts, pointing out that spending big during the holiday season is one of the prime factors driving consumers into debt. The typical shopper plans to drop an average of $816.69 on holiday-related spending this year, according to the National Retail Federation.

"Instead of spending money, do something shared. A dinner, a date, a movie, just go for a walk or write them a nice note or something sentimental," said Stroh.

Along these lines, "For many years we gave our kids coupons at Christmas: a half-hour extra before bedtime, you get to pick the dinner (with notice!), fix-it-now coupons from Dad for broken toys, make your own coupon," said Austin.

Zella Henderson, 15, (left) and Lydia Henderson, 13, check off a list of people who will receive the chocolate covered orange peels that they helped their mom, Victoria Austin, make as gifts on Saturday in Castro Valley, Calif.

Another suggestion is homemade goodies. "Pick an item that has a bit of shelf life, and can easily be wrapped, and left out at room temperature for at least a day," suggests Patricia Leslie of El Cerrito, Calif., who authored "The Wholesome Oven," a vegan baked goods cookbook. She favors shortbread, sugar cookies, gingerbread cookies, chocolate chip cookies and oatmeal cookies.

Victoria Austin of Castro Valley makes 100 bags of chocolate-dipped orange peel for friends and neighbors.

Perhaps the most cost-effective approach of all: the gift bouquets of fragrant fresh herbs Jamie Delman picks from her garden. The hours of time spent on nurturing the herbs, and their practical use in creating deliciously flavored dishes, make this present a winner.

It's not necessary to shun gift certificates as too impersonal, many say.

"I filled a red Santa bag with randomly chosen gift cards from different stores, with different amounts, and let my family reach into the bag and pull out their gift. I also put other small presents in there, like travel-sized perfumes. It's fun," said Susan Quinn of San Francisco. She added that this approach is best for adults.

While there are low-cost presents, there's also a wide range of alternative gifts to be had in the higher prices ranges, such as a spa day or series of workshop classes?

Returning to the low-cost theme, check out local adult schools. A cavalcade of classes, including music, foreign languages, computer classes, line dancing, love addiction, health and nutrition, are available from these schools for as little as $20 or $30. Some are even free.

Here's a truly meaningful gift that's light-years removed from the materialism that often taints the holiday season. Berkeley, Calif.-based The Seva Foundation (www.seva.org) is offering "gifts of service" supporting its projects in health, community development and environmental protection. For a minimum of $20, the giftee will receive a gift card explaining where the money will go.

The foundation offers a variety of programs, including "Kindness for Children," which helps prevent and treat blindness by supporting eye care for children in eight countries. For more details, visit the Seva Web site or call (800) 223-7382.

As most of these presents demonstrate, it's not necessary to break the bank to come up with a memorable gift. The family members who got earthquake preparedness kits from Brenda Kienan were tickled pink.

"I had the kits all packaged up with ribbons and I brought them into the living room and put them in front of each person. I had them all open their presents at once," said Kienan. "They got a big laugh out of it." Not to mention a useful present in Earthquake Country.

Christmas cactus thrives on little sun

McClatchy-Tribune News Service

> "All it requires is a little bit of sunshine and, every so often, a little bit of water."
> Ara Basherian

Of all the potted plants in bloom for December display, my favorites are the holiday cacti, sometimes known as Thanksgiving or Christmas cacti.

They're festive and, unlike many other holiday plants, don't turn into compost fodder by January.

In fact, with a little care, holiday cacti will thrive and rebloom for years — 20 years, in the case of Ara Basherian's plant. His mother-in-law gave him the small cactus two decades ago.

"It kept growing and we kept putting it in larger pots," says Basherian, a retired auto executive. The plant is currently in bloom.

For those who'd like to try growing them, holiday cacti are widely available in stores this time of year.

In Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Basherian's potted cactus lives in a sunny spot in his den.

His wife, Roz, chair of the Cranbrook House & Gardens Auxiliary, jokes that her husband and the cactus "are sympatico."

It certainly seems content, sporting fuchsia-colored flowers that last for weeks.

"All it requires is a little bit of sunshine and, every so often, a little bit of water," said Ara Basherian.

People shopping for holiday plants for indoor decoration may not realize how easy the cacti are to grow and get to rebloom, says Bridget Behe, a horticulture professor at Michigan State University.

They "see that beautiful flower and think they're complicated or challenging," she says. But with the right location and a little care, it's " an ideal flowering plant."

The Basherians' cactus lives in part of the house set back to 60 degrees overnight. Placing the cactus' pot closer to the floor, rather than on a higher shelf, will also keep it slightly cooler, says Behe.

Especially after flowering, these cacti prefer being dry to soggy and can survive without care — if, say, the owners are on vacation — for a couple of weeks. The plants can use slightly more water as they form buds and flowers but never so much that the soil stays soggy.

For summer, move the plants outdoors to a shady spot and bring them inside before the first frost.

Before that transition, Basherian sponges off his plant's flat, segmented stems with a mixture of water and a few drops of liquid dish soap to rid them of any bugs.

Usually, just being outside in the fall will be adequate for the plant to set buds.

Or you could move the pot to a cool, dark place where there is no night lighting for six weeks in the fall. Exposure to cooler temperatures as well as to increasing hours of darkness encourages bud set for the Thanksgiving and Christmas cacti.

And when they flower, in November and December, they will be so gorgeous that you'll want more cacti to be part of future holiday celebrations.

Julie A. Ginley

May 19, 1968 - Feb. 15, 2006

Julie Ann (Watson) Ginley, 37, Anderson, went home to be with her Lord on Feb. 15, 2006, after an extended illness.

She was born May 19, 1968, in Anderson, and moved to Anderson 10 years ago from Pendleton.

She was a homemaker. She attended North Anderson Church of God. She graduated from Heritage Christian High School. Julie loved being a wife, mother, and friend and loved being a homemaker. She was a delight to all that knew her.

Survivors include her husband of 14 years, Patrick E. Ginley of Anderson, whom she married Oct. 12, 1991, in Lapel; parents, Steve and Jeannie (Rich) Watson of Pendleton; grandmother, Betty Watson of Pendleton; son, Gray P. Ginley, at home; daughter, A. Greer Ginley, at home; mother-in-law, Renee Ginley of Anderson; father-in-law, Gene Ginley of Anderson; two sisters and a brother-in-law, Amy and David Brown of St. Joseph, Mich., and Stefanie Baker of Anderson; five sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law, Lisa and Rob Spaulding of Anderson, Ty and Robin Ginley of Indianapolis, Lonnie and Lance Carpenter, Leslie and Bob Wilson, and Libby Freer, all of Anderson; and 20 nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Angie Watson, in 1968; two grandfathers, Robert Watson and Cassell Rich; and a grandmother, Clarabelle Rich.

Services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at North Anderson Church of God with the Revs. Jim Lyon and Jim Rogers officiating. Burial will be in East Maplewood Cemetery.

Visitation will be 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. Friday at Rozelle-Johnson Funeral Service and one hour before service Saturday at the church.

Memorial contributions may be made to Lungs for Life.

Bauer said it has been down dramatically over the last six years. She referred to Sony and Universal seeing a decline in shipment, thus, affecting their distribution.

Next in line is online downloading.

"Certainly technology, such as $12," she said, wanting to remain anonymous.

For example, Coldplay's X&Y CD was $19.99 — at 30 percent off — at Sam Goody in Mounds Mall. Wal-Mart shelves the same X&Y album for $13.88 — regular price.

"So, we're not heavily reliant on music and movies, maybe we'll add fashion," Bauer said. "We're testing custom T-shirt-making with a Canadian company called Bang On. There's a social aspect to shopping we're trying to capture."

Exxon spends more to find oil, gas

By ELIZABETH SOUDER
Knight Ridder News Service

DALLAS — Exxon Mobil Corp. said Wednesday it added more oil and natural gas to its proven reserves than it drew out last year, continuing a 12-year streak of steady additions to its reserve base becoming more expensive.

"Oil and gas prices have risen, but so have industry costs," said Jeroen van der Veer, chief executive of Exxon rival Royal Dutch Shell PLC, in a speech last week. "And developing more difficult resources will mean higher unit investment."

Chemist sues after firing over lab spill's handling

BY SCOTT L. MILEY
CNHI STATEHOUSE REPORTER

INDIANAPOLIS — A former IUPUI nuclear chemist is suing the school after he was fired for allegedly having two women take showers after a spill in a lab.

Bradly Keck, who was assistant director of health physics at IU Health in Indianapolis, is alleging job discrimination in a federal lawsuit filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court for Southern Indiana.

He has named IUPUI and the Indiana University Board of Trustees in his filing.

According to his lawsuit, there was a highly radioactive nuclear spill Jan. 11. Keck blames two female technicians, one a student and the other an employee, for contaminating the lab.

He ordered them to go to a women's locker room, remove their clothes and shower individually.

He claims that failure to remove the contamination could have resulted in serious health risks. Each showered between two and four times.

Keck again ran the meter over contaminated areas of their skin. He told them to go back into the shower where he washed their calves to remove any remaining contamination, he says.

He provided them with clean lab scrubs.

His lawsuit alleges that the women thanked him as did his supervisor. He alleges that the director of environment health and safety said, "That's emergency response. You trade a little nudity for safety."

However, he was suspended pending an investigation. On Jan

Little change in ISTEP exa

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Student scores on Indiana's ISTEP standardized exams were little changed from last year after pass rates tumbled two years ago with an overhaul of the test.

Figures released Wednesday by the state Department of Education show that 51.5 percent of students in grades 3-8 passed both the English and math sections from the exam given last spring. That's down one-tenth of a percentage point from the 2016 tests, but still 2 percentage points lower than the 2015 exams.

About 65 percent of students passed the English section, while 58.5 percent had passing math scores. Both pass rates were down slightly from 2016.

is switching to a new test named ILEARN for the 2019 exams.

Details on the new test are still being worked out. Some critics worry it won't be much different than ISTEP, which has faced years of complaints about the number of days students spend taking the test and how much time schools spend preparing students for it.

Republican state schools Superintendent Jennifer McCormick called the new results flat lined.

"They are never going to be high enough for any of us," she said. "So schools are working hard to improve the scores. We will continue to work hard. Obviously, ILEARN will come in and that transition will play into this. It is good they are not decreasing, but we always want to see improvement."

ANDY KNIGHT
THE HERALD BULLETIN

ANDERSON — As he spoons sugar into a mixture of ingredients to create one of his signature desserts, Rex Teeple carries on a lighthearted conversation with residents at the Christian Center working to prepare lunch for dozens of people on a recent chilly day.

Rex Teeple

Teeple, a retired optometrist, has been involved with the Christian Center's ministry for years, having served on its board and in a variety of other roles. But during the holiday season, his fellow volunteers take special notice of his ability to bloom where he's planted.

"This is a guy who cares about what's going on in the kitchen," says Cordell Ford, food service director at the Christian Center. "They respond really well to him because he takes a certain amount of pride in what he does. He's blooming as a kitchen worker, but he's also bringing that camaraderie, that respect and that love for what he's doing. There's a lot he brings to the table."

Teeple didn't necessarily envision making desserts as part of his volunteer work, but retirement — along with his term as a Christian Center board member expiring four years ago — left him free to pursue other ways of contributing. Having worked at a bakery in high school, food preparation seemed to be a natural fit.

"It gives me the avenue to just chat with the guys and hear their perspectives and their struggles and what they've been through," Teeple said.

Teeple is quick to say that the people he serves, helps and listens to when he works at the shelter on Tuesdays and Thursdays are not homeless, but rather in a season of transition.

2019 BGD LLC LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE

Big changes to gambling discussed at conference

WHITNEY DOWNARD
CNHI STATEHOUSE REPORTER

The 2019 legislative session changed Indiana gambling in ways unforeseen over two decades ago, establishing sports betting and allowing licenses to move locations from Gary to Terre Haute.

Sara Tait, the executive director of the Indiana Gaming Commission, credited a "smooth rollout" of new initiatives to her staff and the implementation of sports betting in other states.

"We were great beneficiaries of being able to learn from other states and other regulatory jurisdictions were very helpful to us," Tait said. "We have operators successfully operating in other states who were able to come to us and say, 'Hey, this is what's been working in other places.' "

Panelists held a breakout session during the 2019 BGD LLC Legislative Conference to discuss policy, focusing on topics, such as gaming, which may come up during the 2020 session.

Indiana passed the gambling bill in the 2019 session, with Illinois passing a similar bill shortly after. Matt Bell, a former legislator and the president of the Casino Association of Indiana, said the two states took "markedly different approaches" to their gaming bills.

"In Indiana, legislators and regulators looked at the industry and said, 'What market conditions do we have to create in order for this industry to have a future?' " Bell said. "In Illinois, a well-intentioned group of legislators said, 'Hey, here's how much money we need to fill a hole in the budget and here's how we're going to extort it from the gaming industry."

Bell warned that despite the surge in sports gambling, the activity would ultimately normalize and become part of the larger gaming revenue.

For the immediate impact, Rep. Terri Austin, D-Anderson, said

ANDERSON — A zip line, giant polar bear slide and a snow ball fight will all be part of the city of Anderson's annual Christmas celebration and parade.

The theme is "Home for the Holidays" with a number of activities planned this Saturday. All the events scheduled at the celebration are free to the public.

The weather is cooperating with temperatures forecast in the mid 40-degree range with clear skies.

This year, the city of Anderson is installing additional holiday lighting in the area surrounding the Dickmann Town Center, at 12th Street and Meridian Plaza.

The skating rink will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday. There is no charge to use the skating rink and special skates for the synthetic ice.

Anderson Mayor Thomas Broderick Jr. will light the Christmas tree at 6:30 p.m. followed by the showing of "Home Alone" at 7 p.m.

Activities will start at 3 p.m. at the Dickmann Town Center. The parade gets underway at 5:30 p.m. at the corner of Eighth and Meridian streets. Broderick will lead the parade and will be joined by the Anderson Community Schools Honor Guard.

Judge dismisses lawsuit in Dillinger exhumation case

RICK CALLAHAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — A nephew of 1930s gangster John Dillinger needs a cemetery's permission to exhume the notorious criminal's Indianapolis gravesite to prove whether he's actually buried there, a judge ruled Wednesday in dismissing the nephew's lawsuit against the cemetery.

Marion County Superior Court Judge Timothy Oakes granted Crown Hill Cemetery's motion to dismiss Michael Thompson's lawsuit, saying Indiana law requires the cemetery's consent.

"The limited question before the Court today is whether disinterment may occur under this section of the statute without cemetery approval. Court finds that the statutory requirements for this section of the statute are clear in that disinterment requires the cemetery owner to give consent before disinterment may occur," Oakes wrote.

He added that Indiana law "does not require that the cemetery have a valid, rational, or meaningful reason" for withholding its consent.

Thompson sued the cemetery in August after it objected to his plans to exhume the grave as part of a television History Channel dropped out of the planned documentary in September.

Attorneys for Crown Hill Cemetery call that "a decades-old conspiracy theory." They opposed the exhumation, saying in court documents that Indiana's Legislature has granted cemetery owners the right to "protect its gravesites from unwarranted disturbance."

Alice McKenzie Morical, an attorney for Crown Hill Cemetery's management company, said during Wednesday's hearing that there was an autopsy after Dillinger's fatal shooting and relatives identified him before his burial.

"His close family believed it was him and they wanted him in the family plot," she said.

The cemetery's management company said in a statement that it's pleased with Wednesday's ruling and it "continues to object to the disinterment of John Dillinger."

The FBI insists it's a "myth" that its agents didn't kill Dillinger and that "a wealth of information supports Dillinger's demise," including fingerprint matches.

Thompson obtained an Indiana State Department of Health permit in October that calls for the remains to be exhumed on Dec. 31.

Drive-through Christmas light display starts Dec. 15

good morning

ANDERSON — Madison Park Church, 6607 Providence Drive, will host a drive-through Christmas light display at the church Dec. 15-23 from 6 to 9 p.m. each night.

The display is free and open to everyone.

On Dec. 15, there will be a kickoff party with a visit from Santa. From 4 to 6 p.m., parents will have the opportunity to take photos of their children with Santa at no cost. Families are invited to stay for the lighting of the display at 6 p.m.

Ten community sponsors, including the city of Anderson and Community Hospital, have partnered with the church to put on this event for the community. One purpose of this event is to contribute to the quality of life in Madison county by creating more family-friendly activities in this area.

Police officers have met with the Madison Park staff to ensure a safe and efficient route for the drive-through display. Each evening, Madison Park volunteers will greet cars and usher them through the light display. Each car will receive a program with a coloring page, event sponsors, and information on Indiana 211, a service that connects callers with resources such as food assistance, housing, employment, or other needs.

Judge dismisses lawsuit in Dillinger exhumation case

RICK CALLAHAN
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — A nephew of 1930s gangster John Dillinger needs a cemetery's permission to exhume the notorious criminal's Indianapolis gravesite to prove whether he's actually buried there, a judge ruled Wednesday in dismissing the nephew's lawsuit against the cemetery.

Marion County Superior Court Judge Timothy Oakes granted Crown Hill Cemetery's motion to dismiss Michael Thompson's lawsuit, saying Indiana law requires the cemetery's consent.

"The limited question before the Court today is whether disinterment may occur under this section of the statute without cemetery approval. Court finds that the statutory requirements for this section of the statute are clear in that disinterment requires the cemetery owner to give consent before disinterment may occur," Oakes wrote.

He added that Indiana law "does not require that the cemetery have a valid, rational, or meaningful reason" for withholding its consent.

Thompson sued the cemetery in August after it objected to his plans to exhume the grave as part of a television documentary. Thompson has said he has evidence Dillinger's body may not be buried there, and that he may not have been the man FBI agents fatally shot outside a Chicago theater on July 22, 1934. The History Channel dropped out of the planned documentary in September.

Attorneys for Crown Hill Cemetery call that "a decades-old conspiracy theory." They opposed the exhumation, saying in court documents that Indiana's Legislature has granted cemetery owners the right to "protect its gravesites from unwarranted disturbance."

Alice McKenzie Morical, an attorney for Crown Hill Cemetery's management company, said during Wednesday's hearing that there was an autopsy after Dillinger's fatal shooting and relatives identified him before his burial.

"His close family believed it was him and they wanted him in the family plot," she said.

The cemetery's management company said in a statement that it's pleased with Wednesday's ruling and it "continues to object to the disinterment of John Dillinger."

The FBI insists it's a "myth" that its agents didn't kill Dillinger and that "a wealth of information supports Dillinger's demise," including fingerprint matches.

Thompson obtained an Indiana State Department of Health permit in October that calls for the remains to be exhumed on Dec. 31.

Thompson's attorney, Andrea Simmons, told the court that her client obtained a large number of FBI files that raise serious questions about whether it is Dillinger's body buried at the hilltop cemetery.

in that it allows them time to get back on their feet."

Teeple is admired by the Christian Center staff for his ability to listen empathetically and make genuine connections with those he serves, regardless of their background or current situation.

"He is the kind of person who is going to be all in," says Rob Spaulding, executive director of the Christian Center. "He believes God has called him to be a leader here, and he has just a generous spirit in terms of how he approaches his volunteering. He believes in what this ministry does.

Teeple summarized his passion by quoting one of his favorite passages in the Bible, Matthew 25:35, in which Jesus says: "For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, I was a stranger and you welcomed me." It's a good reminder, he says, of why what he does matters so much.

"My own faith has played an important part in that," Teeple said. "It's just a fulfilling retirement. I probably could go to Florida, but I was involved in a lot of overseas missions trips, and this has given me the opportunity to stay involved in missions right here at home."

Ruder says college athletics are a possibility, but if that does not work out, she plans on joining the U.S. Navy after graduation.

MADDY HARMON

A three-sport star for the Lions, Maddy Harmon has recovered from a knee injury suffered during basketball season and is ready to lead Liberty Christian as the team's setter again this season.

"I feel 100 percent, I'm ready to go," Harmon said.

With hitters like Taylor Webber and Elena Tufts back this season, along with Alayna Thomas, Harmon says the excitement and optimism are high for Liberty this fall.

"It's looking good, I'm hoping we have a good turnout at tryouts," she said.

Harmon hopes to play volleyball in college and, even if that doesn't happen, is hoping to stay involved with sports as a career, including broadcasting as a possibility.

SENIOR

KARA SURGUY

Despite three key players graduating, Shenandoah appears to be loaded for another 20-win season with Kara Surguy back as one of its top offensive players.

Surguy had 293 kills last season, second on the team, and led the Raiders with 72 service aces and 310 serves received. She was also third with 283 digs.

A tough sectional loss, which ended a three-year reign as champions, is fueling the Raiders.

"That game last year was so disappointing," she said. "You could just feel everything going wrong, and we just couldn't stop it. We've all been determined this year to fix whatever we can and work better as a team."

She would like to stay close to home for college and play volleyball.

MADISON-GRANT ARGYLLS

MCKENNA LUGAR

One of four seniors for the Argylls, McKenna Lugar figures prominently in Madison-Grant's offensive and defensive plans this year.

Playing mainly as an outside hitter last season, Lugar posted 181 kills, 242 digs and 28 aces for the 12-17 Argylls.

Lugar says she is looking to not only expand her game on the court, but is focusing on improving her psychological approach to the game.

"Keeping my mental state in the game and not getting so frustrated," she said. "I'm working on all the shots that need to be done."

After high school, Lugar, a three-sport athlete, is planning on studying radiology and is eyeing Indiana University-Kokomo as a possible destination.

2019 HIGH SCHOOL VOLLEYBALL

ELITE 11

Here is a look at a top returning volleyball player from each area school for the 2019 season:

BY ROB HUNT | PHOTOS BY DON KNIGHT & JOHN P. CLEARY | DESIGN BY HEATHER BREMER

ALEXANDRIA TIGERS

McKenzie Adams

Fresh off a spring season that included claiming the Girls Tennis Athlete of the Year award, McKenzie Adams is now set to lead a young and talented Alexandria team as the only senior on the roster this season.

"My thing is to treat everyone equally," Adams said. "It doesn't matter how old you are. You don't have to be the biggest, the baddest or the toughest, you treat everyone the same."

Adams led the Tigers (18-17) last year with 553 assists and was second in service aces with 22. Expectations are high for 2019.

"I'm really excited, it's my senior year and I wish I had another year with everyone just because of how much I love this team," she said.

Adams is hoping to play tennis in college while studying to become a dermatologist.

SENIOR

ANDERSON IN ANS

Sydnie Spaeth

Now a senior leader for a team with a new coach, Anderson's Sydnie Spaeth is back to resume her role as a defensive specialist and libero for the Indians.

"I'm super excited," she said. "This is finally my year, I get to lead the team to hopefully a few more wins than last year."

Spaeth filled an important role on the back row for Anderson last year. This year, she expects to be the team's libero, also a vital position of leadership for the team.

"I honestly think back row is the most important position in volleyball," she said. "Every play starts with a pass."

Spaeth is planning on studying dentistry after high school and is leaving open the option of playing at a smaller school.

SENIOR

ANDERSON PREP JETS

Samantha Cox

Able to play multiple positions is a key attribute for Samantha Cox, the volleyball Elite 11 representative from Anderson Preparatory Academy.

Able to play on the outside, as a defensive specialist and the backup setter, Cox was second on the Jets with 59 kills last year and led the team with 20 service aces.

She says she's willing to play wherever the team needs her.

"I try to be an all around good player, not just positional," she said. "But hitting will be my biggest focus this year."

Cox will graduate from APA early and, following an internship at a family member's business in New York, will return for college and seek a business degree.

SENIOR

DALEVILLE BR NCOS

Anabella Ray

Daleville volleyball is looking to bounce back from a 12-20 season, and a key player is back in setter Anabella Ray.

Ray led the Broncos with 498 assists, was third on the team with 143 digs and is third among returning players with 50 aces last year. Ray is excited about the hitters who are returning this season and says that working on her timing with those players is key early in the season.

"It takes constant practice," Ray said. "It will show sometimes, but consistently, by the first game we should all be connected."

Ray hopes to play volleyball beyond high school, whether college or club, and plans to study nursing next year.

SENIOR

ELWOOD PANTHERS

Kelsey Ruder

Improvement as a team and as an individual is the primary focus of senior Kelsey Ruder, the 2019 Elite 11 representative from Elwood.

For the 10-20 Panthers last season, Ruder had 172 digs and 181 serves received as well as 32 aces, tops among returning players. She has been working on incorporating a jump serve this season to build upon that part of her arsenal.

"I'm more confident than I was last year," Ruder said. "Jump serving is probably my favorite thing to do, so whenever we serve in practice, I get really excited about it."

Ruder says college athletics are a possibility, but if that does not work out, she plans on joining the U.S. Navy after graduation.

SENIOR

FRANKTON EAGLES

Kate Sperry

Fresh off their first sectional championship in more than 20 years, the Eagles return one of the best all-around players in the area in senior Kate Sperry.

Sperry, a repeat Elite 11 selection, led Frankton in kills (328), digs (289) and serves received (452) and added 22 blocks and 34 aces along the way.

Despite her success on the court, she is looking to improve upon her game this year.

"Definitely my passing because this past Munciana season, I didn't pass, so I'm going to have to focus on that this preseason," she said. "I'd like to become a better leader on and off the court."

Sperry plans to continue her volleyball career in college, and Marian College is one school in which there is mutual interest.

SENIOR

LAPEL BULLD GS

Zoe Freer

Lapel's Zoe Freer emerged as a top-notch middle hitter last season for the 27-6 Bulldogs. In addition to her 226 kills, which were second on the team, Freer led Lapel with 43 total blocks and was third on the team, and tops among returning players, with 51 aces.

She expects to have a similar role this season, patrolling the middle for Lapel.

"I think I'll be in the middle for sure, I've worked a lot on that in the offseason," she said.

Freer plans to study either psychology or biology in college, with Hope College in Michigan a possible destination. She hopes that volleyball will be included in her future as well.

SENIOR

LIBERTY CHRIS N LIONS

Maddy Harmon

A three-sport star for the Lions, Maddy Harmon has recovered from a knee injury suffered during basketball season and is ready to lead Liberty Christian as the team's setter again this season.

"I feel 100 percent, I'm ready to go," Harmon said.

With hitters like Taylor Webber and Elena Tufts back this season, along with Alayna Thomas, Harmon says the excitement and optimism are high for Liberty this fall.

"It's looking good, I'm hoping we have a good turnout at tryouts," she said.

Harmon hopes to play volleyball in college and, even if that doesn't happen, is hoping to stay involved with sports as a career, including broadcasting as a possibility.

SENIOR

MADISON-G ANT ARGYLLS

McKenna Lugar

One of four seniors for the Argylls, McKenna Lugar figures prominently in Madison-Grant's offensive and defensive plans this year.

Playing mainly as an outside hitter last season, Lugar posted 181 kills, 242 digs and 28 aces for the 12-17 Argylls. Lugar says she is looking to not only expand her game on the court, but is focusing on improving her psychological approach to the game.

"Keeping my mental state in the game and not getting so frustrated," she said. "I'm working on all the shots that need to be done."

After high school, Lugar, a three-sport athlete, is planning on studying radiology and is eyeing Indiana University-Kokomo as a possible destination.

PENDLETON HTS. ARABIANS

Gracie King

The Arabians return a large group of talented seniors from last year's 21-14 team that won the Madison County championship. Gracie King will continue to be a large part of this team's success.

The 6-foot-2 King has grown into one of the best all-around players in the area with 313 kills, 42 aces, 58 total blocks and 76 digs last season. After beginning her career as a front-row only player, her improvement has come about due to hard work.

"I'll definitely play back row more, and that's something I never did before," King said. "It's been fun to do that and hit from the back row. But I still feel like I'm getting better in the middle because of practice."

King has verbally committed to play volleyball at University of Indianapolis.

Kara Surguy

Despite three key players graduating, Shenandoah appears to be loaded for another 20-win season with Kara Surguy back as one of its top offensive players.

Surguy had 293 kills last season, second on the team, and led the Raiders with 72 service aces and 310 serves received. She was also third with 283 digs.

A tough sectional loss, which ended a three-year reign as champions, is fueling the Raiders.

"That game last year was so disappointing," she said. "You could just feel everything going wrong, and we just couldn't stop it. We've all been determined this year to fix whatever we can and work better as a team."

She would like to stay close to home for college and play volleyball.

Lapel's Zoe Freer emerged as a top-notch middle hitter last season for the 27-6 Bulldogs. In addition to her 226 kills, which were second on the team, Freer led Lapel with 43 total blocks and was third on the team, and tops among returning players, with 51 aces.

She expects to have a similar role this season, patrolling the middle for Lapel.

"I think I'll be in the middle for sure, I've worked a lot on that in the offseason," she said.

Freer plans to study either psychology or biology in college, with Hope College in Michigan a possible destination. She hopes that volleyball will be included in her future as well.

Colts Camp Notebook: Hentges could keep streak alive

Colts tight end Hale Hentges gets ready for practice during training camp at Grand Park in Westfield.

Colts tight end Hale Hentges makes a catch during training camp at Grand Park in Westfield.

WESTFIELD — Hale Hentges has been so good during training camp at Grand Park that Saturday's practice nearly came to a halt when the undrafted tight end dropped a pass in one-on-one drills.

Never mind it took a herculean effort by safety Malik Hooker to jar the ball loose initially. The ball hit the ground after touching Hentges' hands, and it was a sight the Indianapolis Colts reacted as though they'd never seen before.

"He's had a great camp so finally when the ball hit the ground when it was thrown to him, it was everybody was shocked, 'There it is, there it is,'" head coach Frank Reich said with a laugh. "He just finds a way to get things done in the pass game and the run game. To his credit, he's really a technician, and it's as much a mindset with him. So really happy with how Hale has done in training camp."

Hentges was right back at it Sunday, making plays with scary consistency and improving his stock as the most likely candidate to keep a two-decade long streak alive.

Every year since 1999, at least one undrafted free agent has made the Colts' 53-man roster coming out of training camp. With great competition across the board this summer, there aren't any obvious positions where depth is thin.

The tight end group boasts a trio of front-line players in Jack Doyle, Eric Ebron and Mo Alie-Cox. But only Doyle excels as a blocker among the group, and that was Hentges' specialty at Alabama.

He's been exactly as advertised blocking the edge in the running game, but he's been a bit of a revelation with his athleticism and production in the passing game — perhaps opening a door for the 22-year-old to make the team as the fourth tight end.

It's reminiscent of another undrafted tight end who has made quite an impact in Indianapolis — Jack Doyle.

Hentges shares some physical similarities with the 2017 Pro Bowler, and he's made sure to make the most out of his time in the same meeting room.

"I really flock to him because I really admire his game, and I want to be like him," Hentges said. "Every route I do, every blocking technique, I'm always picking his brain and asking, 'What did I do wrong there? What can I do better? What did you see?'

"He's always so helpful with me, just telling me, 'Hey, try doing this.' I'm just trying to learn because he's one of the best at what he does, and I'm just trying to take it all in."

FITS THE BILL

Legendary Colts front-office boss Bill Polian visited Grand Park on Sunday in his role as an analyst for Sirius/XM NFL Radio.

He's known Indianapolis head coach Frank Reich since drafting him with the Buffalo Bills in 1985 and was the first to peg the quarterback as a future head coach.

So Reich's success in his first season with the Colts came as no surprise to Polian, who saw it coming even after the opening-week loss against Cincinnati.

"He was upbeat," Polian said. "He saw the game as it developed the right way. He was confident that the guys were tuned in and buying in. So it would only be a matter of time, and it was."

The turnaround from a 1-5 start to a wild-card playoff victory has helped fuel high expectations this season.

Polian, of course, believes Indianapolis has the right man for the job.

"He's proven what he's got," Polian said. "But, again, I've known him since he was 21. So that was no surprise. Anybody that's been around him was not surprised about the outcome."

NO EXCUSES

Andrew Luck again watched most of the team drills Sunday from a sideline perch near offensive coordinator Nick Sirianni.

The quarterback has not practiced since July 27 as he regains strength in his left calf. But Sirianni proclaims not to be concerned about the potential effect of Luck's absence on the first-team offense when the regular season starts in September.

"He's getting the mental reps that he needs," Sirianni said. "I know we all want him to have the full-go reps, but we as an entire group have to focus on getting better ourselves each and every day. 'Cause as they get better, Andrew will play better.

"I think we're still growing, and I think we can be where we want to be Game 1, even without Andrew practicing right now. And that's our goal."

ROSTER MOVES

The Colts signed cornerback Isaiah Langley and waived tight end Zach Conque on Sunday.

Langley, an undrafted free agent out of USC, originally signed with the Oakland Raiders in June.

Colts Camp Notebook: Hentges could keep streak alive

BY GEORGE BREMER
CNHI SPORTS INDIANA

Colts tight end Hale Hentges gets ready for practice during training camp at Grand Park in Westfield.

Colts tight end Hale Hentges makes a catch during training camp at Grand Park in Westfield.

WESTFIELD — Hale Hentges has been so good during training camp at Grand Park that Saturday's practice nearly came to a halt when the undrafted tight end dropped a pass in one-on-one drills.

Never mind it took a herculean effort by safety Malik Hooker to jar the ball loose initially. The ball hit the ground after touching Hentges' hands, and it was a sight the Indianapolis Colts reacted as though they'd never seen before.

"He's had a great camp so finally when the ball hit the ground when it was thrown to him, it was everybody was shocked, 'There it is, there it is,'" head coach Frank Reich said with a laugh. "He just finds a way to get things done in the pass game and the run game. To his credit, he's really a technician, and it's as much a mindset with him. So really happy with how Hale has done in training camp."

Hentges was right back at it Sunday, making plays with scary consistency and improving his stock as the most likely candidate to keep a two-decade long streak alive.

Every year since 1999, at least one undrafted free agent has made the Colts' 53-man roster coming out of training camp. With great competition across the board this summer, there aren't any obvious positions where depth is thin.

The tight end group boasts a trio of front-line players in Jack Doyle, Eric Ebron and Mo Alie-Cox. But only Doyle excels as a blocker among the group, and that was Hentges' specialty at Alabama.

He's been exactly as advertised blocking the edge in the running game, but he's been a bit of a revelation with his athleticism and production in the passing game — perhaps opening a door for the 22-year-old to make the team as the fourth tight end.

It's reminiscent of another undrafted tight end who has made quite an impact in Indianapolis — Jack Doyle.

Hentges shares some physical similarities with the 2017 Pro Bowler, and he's made sure to make the most out of his time in the same meeting room.

"I really flock to him because I really admire his game, and I want to be like him," Hentges said. "Every route I do, every blocking technique, I'm always picking his brain and asking, 'What did I do wrong there? What can I do better? What did you see?'

"He's always so helpful with me, just telling me, 'Hey, try doing this.' I'm just trying to learn because he's one of the best at what he does, and I'm just trying to take it all in."

FITS THE BILL

Legendary Colts front-office boss Bill Polian visited Grand Park on Sunday in his role as an analyst for Sirius/XM NFL Radio.

He's known Indianapolis head coach Frank Reich since drafting him with the Buffalo Bills in 1985 and was the first to peg the quarterback as a future head coach.

So Reich's success in his first season with the Colts came as no surprise to Polian, who saw it coming even after the opening-week loss against Cincinnati.

"He was upbeat," Polian said. "He saw the game as it developed the right way. He was confident that the guys were tuned in and buying in. So it would only be a matter of time, and it was."

The turnaround from a 1-5 start to a wild-card playoff victory has helped fuel high expectations this season.

Polian, of course, believes Indianapolis has the right man for the job.

"He's proven what he's got," Polian said. "But, again, I've known him since he was 21. So that was no surprise. Anybody that's been around him was not surprised about the outcome."

NO EXCUSES

Andrew Luck again watched most of the team drills Sunday from a sideline perch near offensive coordinator Nick Sirianni.

The quarterback has not practiced since July 27 as he regains strength in his left calf. But Sirianni proclaims not to be concerned about the potential effect of Luck's absence on the first-team offense when the regular season starts in September.

"He's getting the mental reps that he needs," Sirianni said. "I know we all want him to have the full-go reps, but we as an entire group have to focus on getting better ourselves each and every day. 'Cause as they get better, Andrew will play better.

"I think we're still growing, and I think we can be where we want to be Game 1, even without Andrew practicing right now. And that's our goal."

ROSTER MOVES

The Colts signed cornerback Isaiah Langley and waived tight end Zach Conque on Sunday.

Langley, an undrafted free agent out of USC, originally signed with the Oakland Raiders in June.

25 Years Ago – 1988

March 3 — Anderson teachers Misty Novak and Alberta Pettigrew probably go to bed with visions of "Jackie Junkfood" and "Safety Sam" dancing in their heads. These are some of the characters featured in teaching aid books written, illustrated and published by the two women. Each unit study book contains songs, finger plays, puppets and classroom activities. "Each of the songs has a moral or teaches a lesson," Pettigrew said. They have sold books to elementary and day care center teachers throughout the Midwest.

March 4 — A seven-member steering committee will be formed by the Anderson Police Department to develop plans for a proposed horse patrol. The Anderson Board of Public Safety approved formation of the committee Thursday, directing the department to appoint the committee from volunteers. Police Chief Ron Rheam said the purpose of the committee includes seeking potential donors of funds, feed, equipment and even horses. He said statistics from other communities revealed that crime was lower in areas patrolled by horse units.

Swinford repeats in National Crown

By Ken de la Bastide
The Herald Bulletin

ANDERSON — Noblesville driver Jeff Swinford accomplished something that hadn't been done in more than 20 years, win back-to-back National Crown races at Anderson Speedway.

Swinford turned in a dominating performance on Edgewater Woods Alzheimer's Awareness night leading all 50 laps in the 67th running of the National Crown and lapping the entire field.

The last driver to win back-to-back National Crown events was Joe Beaver in 1994 and 1995.

Swinford set fast time during qualifications and started on the inside of the front row jumping into the lead over Shawn Cullen and Curtis Chapman.

By the halfway point, two of Swinford's biggest competitors for the National Crown title were out of competition with mechanical problems.

Cullen, the second-quick qualifier, slowed on Lap 6, pulling out of competition before returning at a reduced pace. His car lost high gear and couldn't race at full speed.

On Lap 19, Josh Tharp's night ended with a rear end problem.

Swinford opened a comfortable lead over Chapman when on Lap 44 Chapman's car experienced a flat right rear tire.

Swinford went on to win by two laps over Nick Warner, Andy Sherley, Bruce McFall and Chapman.

Chapman had won two of the three Hart's Auto Figure-8 features leading up to the National Crown.

Rodon stru return as W lose 6-4 t

By Brian Hall
The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS — In May, the Chicago White Sox were dreaming of a possible playoff race with three left-handers anchoring the starting rotation.

One day away from the major-league trade deadline, Chicago is now a seller and uncertainty marks each of left-handers Carlos Rodon, Chris Sale and Jose Quintana.

Brian Dozier hit two home runs to spoil Rodon's first start since July 5, and the Minnesota Twins handed the White Sox a 6-4 loss on Sunday. Melky Cabrera had three hits for Chicago, which lost for the fourth time in five games.

"It's not an excuse," Rodon (2-8) said of his absence while recovering from a sprained left wrist. "I just got to be better. A team scores four runs, you got to keep these guys at less than four, man, that's my job. I didn't do it today."

The recent stretch only reinforced the White Sox trade-deadline position. Before the game, Chicago traded left-handed reliever Zach Duke to the St. Louis Cardinals for speedy minor-league outfielder Charlie Tilson.

Sale and Quintana, meanwhile, have been mentioned in trade rumors leading into Monday's deadline after the team started 23-10 this season and had Sale looking like a Cy Young Award candidate.

"We were experimenting the last few weeks," Swinford said of races leading up to the National Crown. "We tried some different shock set-ups. This car was on a rail."

Street Stocks

Indianapolis driver Jimmy Kirby III scored his first career Champion Racing Association Street Stock Division feature taking the lead from Andrew Teepe with seven laps remaining.

Teepe led the first 17 laps before turning over the point to Mason Keller for one lap. Teepe remained out front until Keller again went to the front on Lap 23.

Kirby took the point for the first time on Lap 39 with an inside pass of Keller, who slowed with a mechanical problem.

Teepe stayed glued on Kirby's rear bumper, looking several times to make an inside pass. He did get inside of Kirby on Lap 66 entering Turn 3, but two laps later Kirby made the deciding pass in Turn 1.

Kirby went on to win by three-tenths of a second over Teepe, Knightstown's Colby Lane finished third followed by Anderson driver Andrew Cook and Greenfield's Phil Jenkins.

"I just drove clean and consistently," Kirby said of the victory. "I was just focusing on my car."

Kirby said he drifted high in Turn 3 which allowed Teepe to take the lead on Lap 66, and then their roles were reversed two laps later.

Anderson's Josh Poore tangled with Keller on Lap 12 and was finished for the night with a flat right front tire.

Quilt maker forges link between auto plant, wounded troops

By Susan Orr
For The Associated Press

PRINCETON — When a quilt maker from southern Illinois and her husband visited Toyota's Visitors Center last year, their intent was simply to tour the plant where their Sienna minivan had been made.

But as a result of that, the Toyota facility now has a special link to wounded troops overseas.

Linda and Bob Swinford, who live in Dahlgren, Illinois, are part of a small group of volunteers who make and ship quilts and other handmade items to patients at military hospitals in Iraq and Afghanistan.

During a May 2014 visit to Toyota's Visitors Center, one of the items they saw was a 1926 automatic loom that is part of the company's early history.

Before it got into automobiles, the company now known as Toyota was a loom-maker known as Toyoda Automatic Loom Works.

The loom is switched on briefly during multiple daily tours so guests can see it in action. As a result, the loom slowly produces a length of cotton fabric — a few inches each time it's turned on. The fabric, Linda Swinford realized, would be the perfect backing for the military quilts.

"I saw the loom and said, 'Oh my gosh! This is really going to be a good tour,' " Swinford said Tuesday.

She inquired about the fabric, and Toyota agreed to start donating it for use in the quilts.

Toyota hosted the Swinfords and other guests recently to unveil several new Visitors Center exhibits. One of them was a quilt made by Swinford, produced from the fabric made by the Toyota loom.

In addressing the group, Toyota Motor Manufacturing Indiana President Norm Bafunno called Linda Swinford a hero for her acts of kindness that "... comfort people in great need that you've never met.

"I don't know how it ever was that our paths met," Bafunno said to the quilter.

Swinford's quilts offer comfort and warmth to injured troops while they are hospitalized overseas, or while they are being transported back to the U.S. for treatment.

"The (quilt) backing is really the most important part of this puzzle because that's what's next to their skin," Swinford said.

Quality fabric is expensive — in the neighborhood of $12 or $14 per yard — and Swinford uses 3.5 yards of backing fabric to make one quilt. Because the Swinfords buy their own materials, Linda said, they were limited in the number of quilts they could afford to make and send.

Swinford said, the Toyota donation is allowing her to reach many more people than she could before.

"It's huge for us. Without the backing and the fabric from Toyota, we wouldn't be able to provide the quilts that we do in the volume that we do."

The joy of painting – on cake

Delilah Swinford has turned painting technique into a creative sugary topping

By Nancy Chamberlain
The Herald Bulletin

ANDERSON — Delilah J. Swinford looks at cake decorating as if it were a form of painting that could be eaten.

In fact, the art of painting fit into her initial classes in learning cake decoration, said Swinford, proprietor and chef of Delilah's Desserts, a home-based business that she would love to expand into a local bakery when the time is right.

One of Swinford's specialties is a method of decorating called "one-stroke painting."

"You can blend two or three colors on one brush and use one stroke (to get) blended colors. It eliminates shading (with another brush.)

The look is one of blended colors, like a rainbow, where there are no individual lines separating the multi-colors being used.

When she first learned the technique, she started painting everything she could get her hands on. Decorating rooms in her house with winding vines and flowers across the ceiling and down the sides of doorways,

She painted mirrors and mailboxes. She even tried to paint her husband's truck, on the tire covers. "But it washed off," she says with an embarrassed grin. "I was using the wrong kind of paint."

Now, she sticks to decorating cakes.

Though her signature design is the rose, she once designed a Harley-Davidson cake for one customer, and to preserve the image, she took a picture of her creation. But Swinford is most proud of her discovery to create edible paint, something she did not learn from classes in cake decorating.

"I figured out on my own how to paint on food," she says, "And you can eat it, too."

Besides keeping her work local and not using the Internet to expand, Swinford feels her products are best if they reach the customer right from her kitchen, not frozen or packaged and sent through the postal system. "It just doesn't taste right," she says about freezing her products. "A cake doesn't have as good a flavor."

She is listed on Craig's List; she does not have her own website. To get word out about her skills, Swinford routinely sets up booths at community festivals.

Swinford jokes that her favorite part of baking is being able to eat what she bakes, implying that it adds to her weight, but her trim figure doesn't show any adverse effects.

Swinford's full-time assistant is her son, Jimmy Jay, who is her "ad man," she says proudly. "He passes out fliers and cards for me. And when I'm squeezed for time, he'll cook our family meal. He's a good cook, but not so much with baking."

She says he does make Cowboy Cookies to sell, but he won't reveal the recipe. As an aside, she says, "He throws everything in them."

When talking about her husband, Swinford says, "Big Jim? He loves it, supports it all the way. ... I don't know if he'd be real happy if I were away from home eight to 10 hours a day."

Nearby, husband Jim says with a smile, "It makes her happy. She enjoys doing it."

Here are some of Delilah Swinford's recipes:

¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup whole milk
1 tablespoon pure vanilla extract
1 stick (½ cup) butter, softened
1 cup granulated sugar
2 large eggs

Directions: Position a rack in the upper third of the oven and preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line cupcake pans with 12 paper liners and set aside, or grease and flour a 9-inch by 13-inch pan.

In a medium bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder and salt. In a small bowl, whisk together milk and vanilla extract. Set aside.

With mixer, cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Scrape the sides of the bowl to make sure everything is well incorporated. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. If the batter begins to look a bit curdled, that's all right.

With mixer on low speed, alternately add flour mixture and vanilla-milk mixture in three batches, starting and ending with the flour. When batter is almost combined, stop mixer and finish mixing batter with spatula, making sure that any flour bits at the bottom of the bowl are well incorporated.

Divide into lined cupcake or cake pan and bake 25 minutes or until golden and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Allow to cool in pan for 10 minutes before removing to cool completely before frosting.

Frosting variations:

Chocolate: add ¼ cup cocoa and ¼ cup more milk while mixing.

Coconut: add ¼ cup coconut and ¼ cup more while mixing.

Pineapple: add 1 can crushed pineapple while mixing; bake 30 min. instead of 25.

Chips: add 1 cup any flavor chips (chocolate, semisweet, peanut putter, etc.) to batter and stir by hand, then pour into pan(s.)

Cocoa Brownies

¾ cup butter
¾ cup cocoa powder
2 tablespoons water
2 large eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 9-inch by 13-inch baking pan.

Combine butter and cocoa powder in a small bowl, and place over pot of simmering water. Make sure that the simmering water does not touch the bottom of the bowl. Add the water and stir to melt ingredients.

In a medium-sized bowl, whisk together the eggs and sugar. Add vanilla extract. When butter and chocolate have melted and come together, slowly stir the chocolate mixture into sugar mixture.

Add flour, baking powder and salt. Stir to combine. Fold in nuts, saving a small handful for the top of the brownies, if you like.

Pour the batter in pan, sprinkle with chocolate chips and remaining nuts. Bake 18 to 25 minutes.

Remove from oven, cool about 10 minutes, then cut into bars.

The Herald Bulletin

ANDERSON — Delilah J. Swinford looks at cake decorating as if it were a form of painting that could be eaten.

In fact, the art of painting fit into her initial classes in learning cake decoration, said Swinford, proprietor and chef of Delilah's Desserts, a home-based business that she would love to expand into a local bakery when the time is right.

One of Swinford's specialties is a method of decorating called "one-stroke painting."

"You can blend two or three colors on one brush and use one stroke (to get) blended colors. It eliminates shading (with another brush.)

The look is one of blended colors, like a rainbow, where there are no individual lines separating the multi-colors being used.

When she first learned the technique, she started painting everything she could get her hands on. Decorating rooms in her house with winding vines and flowers across the ceiling and down the sides of doorways,

She painted mirrors and mailboxes. She even tried to paint her husband's truck, on the tire covers. "But it washed off," she says with an embarrassed grin. "I was using the wrong kind of paint."

Now, she sticks to decorating cakes.

Though her signature design is the rose, she once designed a Harley-Davidson cake for one customer, and to preserve the image, she took a picture of her creation. But Swinford is most proud of her discovery to create edible paint, something she did not learn

Howard County part of state's pilot program for vaccinations

KOKOMO — Howard County is one of only eight Indiana counties now accepting insurance for vaccinations through a state pilot program.

"The state wanted to help local health departments serve clients with health insurance," said Kathy Oldaker, public health nursing supervisor of the Howard County Health Department.

New state vaccination guidelines were set to take effect July 1, but the state pushed implementation back to Dec. 31.

The state's policy change for Vaccines for Children — a federal entitlement program for people covered by Medicaid, as well as those who have no health insurance or are under-insured — is aimed at limiting publicly funded vaccines to only people or families with no health insurance or those who are underinsured.

Originally, people covered by insurance would not have been able to obtain vaccinations for their children at the county health department.

As part of the pilot program, Oldaker said Howard County has contracted with VaxCare, which will provide the vaccines and bill the insurance companies.

The Health Department will continue to receive a $9 administrative fee for each vaccination.

Oldaker said VaxCare will bill clients for the required insurance co-payments and deductibles.

By Damian Wexler,
Freelance health reporter

"Sometimes you'll give anything just to make it stop!"... says Dr. Santiago Rodriguez about digestive distress. He ought to know. After all, he's a world-renowned expert on medicinal botany.

Dr. Santiago R world-famous

"You can see the tortured look on people's faces as they talk about the scorching burn of stomach acid. Or being so constipated you almost pass out from the pain." And there's nothing worse than being "kept prisoner to your bathroom" because of chronic diarrhea.

It's a nightmare for people who suffer from it. But now, your stomach problems could be over. And the secret is in the healing aloe plant.

FINALLY THERE'S HOPE..

At first, the thought of drinking Aloe vera might make some people back away. But in fact, this delicious "digestion cocktail" is doing amazing things for people who suffer with stomach problems --- even if they've had them for years. Here's how it works...

Is it Worth the Risk?
FDA WARNING!
Using proton pump inhibitors (like Nexium® and Prilosec®) on a long-term basis, increases your risk of hip, bone and spinal fractures.

STOMACH AGONY

Your stomach naturally produces acid so strong, it can dissolve an aluminum spoon in just 30 minutes! And when excess acid escapes into your esophagus, throat and stomach lining... It unleashes the scorching pain of acid reflux, heartburn, ulcers and more misery. Add the problems of stress, and "all hell breaks loose."

Dr. Rodriguez explains... the "AloeCure® can work genuine miracles. It buffers high acid levels with amazing speed. So your stomach feels completely at ease just moments after drinking it." In fact, it could wipe out stomach pain, discomfort, and frantic runs to the bathroom.

UNTIL NOW, LITTLE COULD BE DONE...

But "AloeCure® can help virtually anyone. Even people with chronic stomach pain can feel better right away," says Dr. Rodriguez. And what's really
